Treadwell High School

Memphis, Tennessee

Edited and Published by THE SENIOR CLASS OF 1959

FOREWORD

Enclosed in these pages are the memories of a wonderful year — outstanding occasions that we believe represent the true picture of our life at Treadwell High School. In the years to come, it is our wish that this volume will be a source of unceasing pleasure as you recall the activities and happiness of 1958-59.

We, the Annual Staff, sincerely hope that you will enjoy this book as much as we enjoyed compiling it for you. It was ours for almost a year; now it belongs to you!

DEDICATION

To William L. Maybry

20 Years at Treadwell

We, the Annual Staff of 1958-59, dedicate this book to you, our beloved principal, Mr. William L. Maybry. Through the years you have inspired Treadwell students with your ever-present interest, constructive discipline, and unexcelled leadership.

Who, wearing a smile, was always ready to give a word of encouragement or advice?—You, Mr. Maybry. Who planned events and activities in the interest of Treadwell?—You, Mr. Maybry. Who supported athletic events and ever urged us to attend sports activities?—You, Mr. Maybry. Who fostered a spirit of cooperation between the faculty and students?—You, Mr. Maybry.

We, the seniors, will always remember you with gratitude and will benefit from your guidance. In closing we would just like to say, "Thanks for being our Mr. Maybry!"

OUR FAVORITE TEACHER

A Recipient of Coveted Honor

For the past thirty-five years, Treadwell's students and alumni have appreciated the diligent talents of Miss Leone Grammer, a member of our elementary faculty. This amazing teacher possesses an extraordinary knack for turning curious little boys and girls into experienced little ladies and gentlemen with a whole year of school behind them.

As a Commercial Appeal Favorite Teacher of 1958, Miss Grammer received well-deserved recognition. As recipient of this honor she was awarded a two-weeks' vacation in Jamaica.

MISS LEONE GRAMMER
Treadwell's Favorite Teacher

On the beach near Tower Isle Hotel, Miss Grammer leisurely enjoyed the Jamaican sunshine.

Mid-South Favorite Teachers of 1958, Laura Truitt, Mary Hubler, Leone Grammer, and Annie Ree Harvey, were graciously received by Mr. Borderwell, manager of Tower Isle Hotel upon their arrival.

To Chuck
A real cute girl with a great personality, Lots of luck and love, Carol

ADMINISTRATION

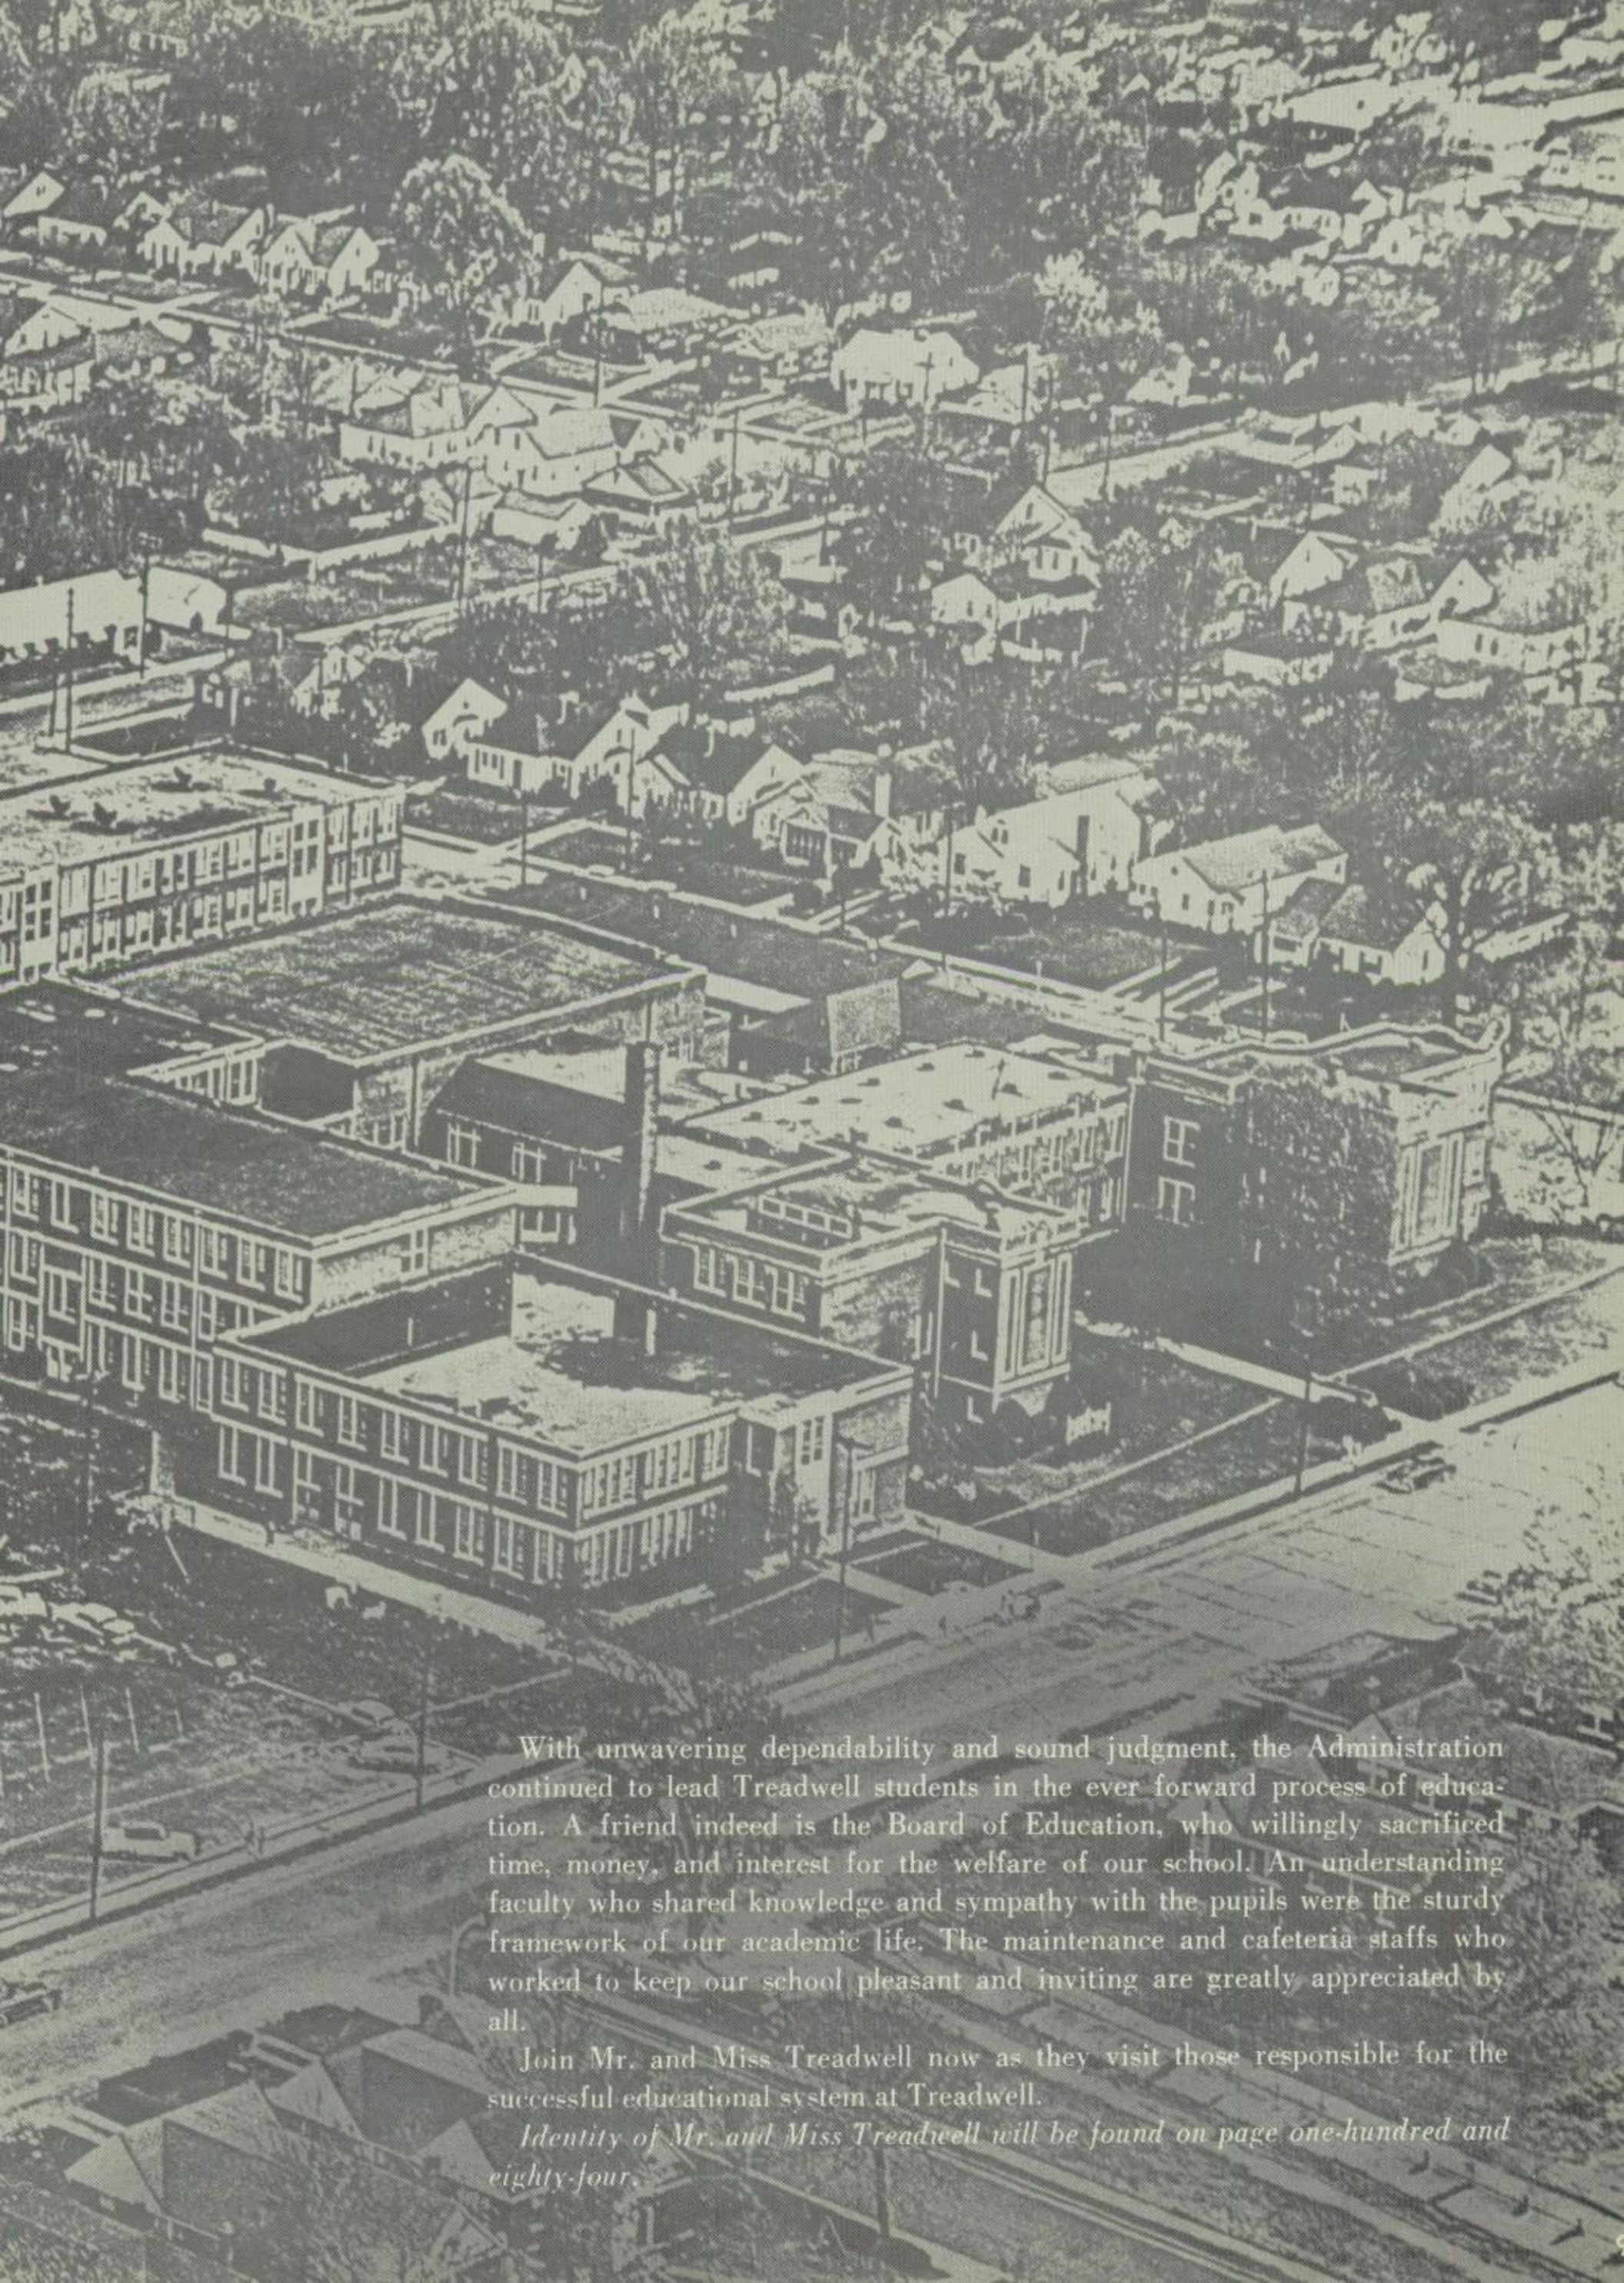
TREADWELL SCHOOL PLANT



With unwavering dependability and sound judgment, the Administration continued to lead Treadwell students in the ever forward process of education. A friend indeed is the Board of Education, who willingly sacrificed time, money, and interest for the welfare of our school. An understanding faculty who shared knowledge and sympathy with the pupils were the sturdy framework of our academic life. The maintenance and cafeteria staffs who worked to keep our school pleasant and inviting are greatly appreciated by all.

Join Mr. and Miss Treadwell now as they visit those responsible for the successful educational system at Treadwell.

Identity of Mr. and Miss Treadwell will be found on page one-hundred and eighty-four.

Administrative Staff of Memphis City Board of Education

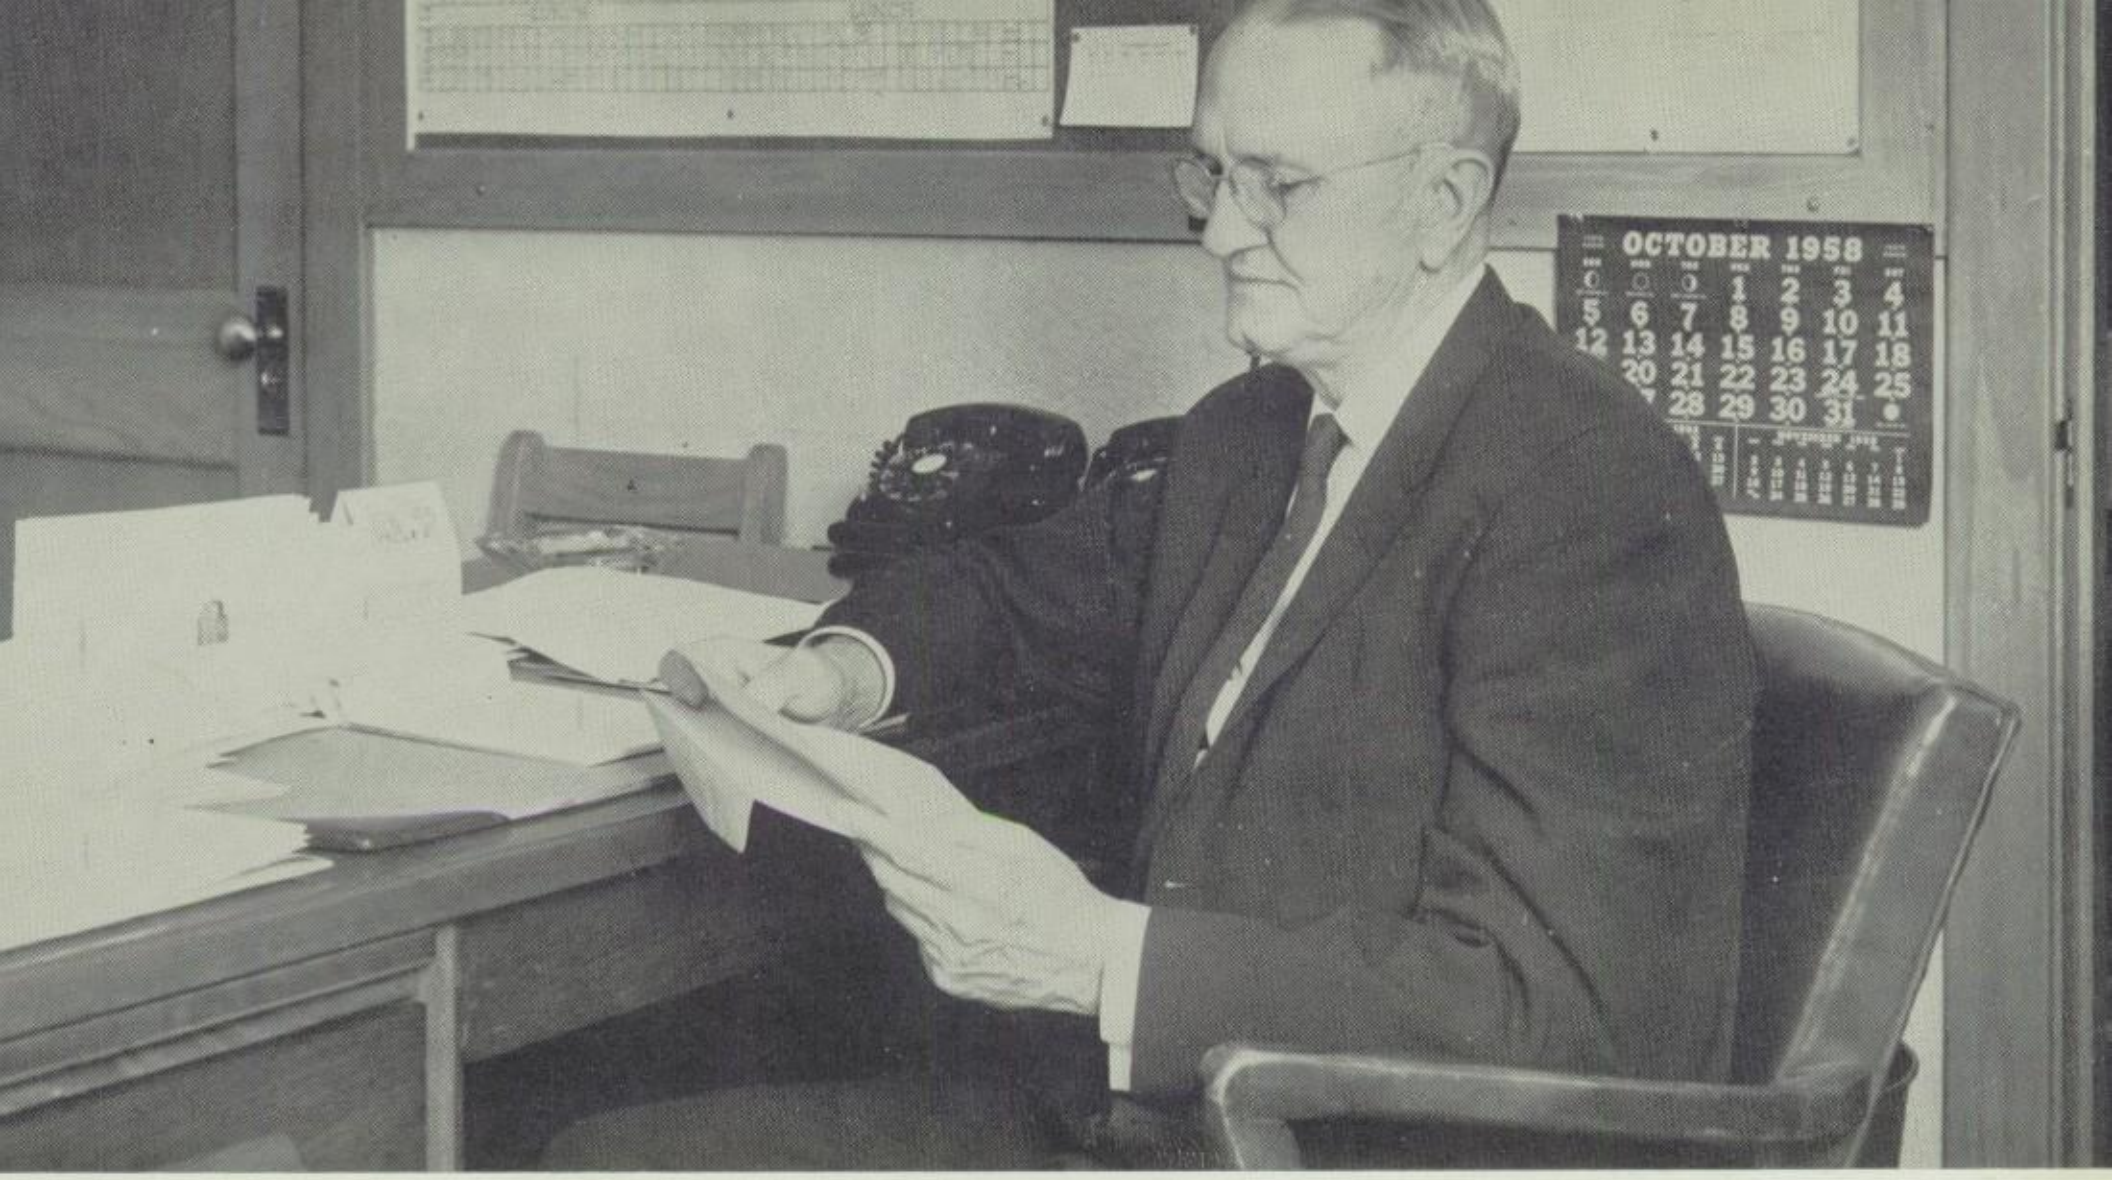
MR. HARRY SHARP (SEATED)—Assistant Superintendent, Department of Guidance and Attendance; MR. ELDON C. STIMBERT (SEATED)—Superintendent of Memphis City Schools; MR. JOHN FREEMAN (SEATED)—Deputy Assistant Superintendent, Department of Business Affairs; MR. FELIX OSWALT—Assistant Superintendent, Department of Plant Management; MR. LEE THOMPSON—Administrative Assistant; MR. MORGAN CHRISTIAN—Assistant Superintendent, Department of Instruction.

Supervising the school program, planning the school budget, and issuing books and materials are some of the many time-consuming duties of the Memphis Board of Education. Through the assistance of support of this organization, educational standards of high quality are established and maintained in the city's public school system. We would like to express our appreciation to the Memphis Board of Education for the guidance and inspiration they have given us.



Mr. Maybry reads one of the many letters he receives daily.

Spring days find Mr. and Mrs. Maybry working in their garden.

Mr. W. L. Maybry, Principal

Heads Executive Staff.

Few students realize the many duties awaiting Mr. Maybry and his office force at the beginning of each day. Mr. Maybry often finds himself deluged with questions and requests of students, teachers, and parents concerning every phase of school life.

Mr. Maybry's most immediate duties are supervision of the educational program, maintaining discipline within the student body, and holding conferences with students and parents.

During a break on a picture schedule day Mr. Maybry chats with Joyce Hunt and Marilyn Word as staff members gather around.

On registration day Mr. Maybry offers some helpful suggestions to June Bryan, a puzzled senior.

MR. F. A. FARINO

MR. J. B. CHILDERS
Elementary

Mr. Farino discusses the junior high tournament ads with John Dowtin, Leslie Wood, and Mary Frances Nelson.

ASSISTANT PRINCIPALS

Direct Their School Programs

Supervising the activities of Treadwell Junior High was the never-ending job of Mr. Farino. He cheerfully performed all of his many duties and willingly devoted many hours of hard work to his numerous obligations.

Under the watchful eye of Mr. Childers were 45 teachers and 1448 students. As elementary principal he guided the young child toward higher education.

Jeffrey Holmes, Julianne Wintker, Marilyn Pope, and Larry Walters drop in for a friendly chat with Mr. Childers.

Mrs. Wright, executive secretary, checks her schedule for the day.

Mrs. Turner, senior high secretary, cheerfully carries on her secretarial duties.

SECRETARIES

Maintain Office Order

The many duties which supply our secretaries with a busy daily schedule were met with hard work and patience. Mrs. Wright never had to wonder what to do next. Every minute of her time was filled with checking absentees, handling finances, checking credits, enrolling new students, and purchasing bookstore supplies.

Mrs. Turner, too, checked attendance in addition to her regular secretarial duties. Sending out transcripts also kept her quite busy.

Mrs. Powell and Mrs. Suggs handled the business for the junior high office and the elementary office respectively in much the same way as did Mrs. Wright and Mrs. Turner for the senior high.

Mrs. Powell, junior high secretary, begins the day by checking the absentee cards.

Mrs. Suggs, elementary secretary, pauses a moment during a busy day.

The Student Loan Committee is composed of Mr. Maybry, Mrs. Loenneke, Mrs. Crossno, Mrs. Sharp, Miss Willis (inset), and Mrs. Brattain (inset).

Two trophies, won by the P.T.A. are presented to Mr. Maybry by Mrs. Forrester and Mrs. Pardue.

PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATION

Co-ordinates Home and School

Founders' Day was commemorated by the presentation of a skit in which Mrs. Pardue and Mrs. Raspberry portrayed the founders, Alice Birney and Phoebe Hearst.

The P.T.A., with its large membership this year, was enabled to participate in more activities in our school. It had 4,332 members, making it the largest association in Tennessee.

They engaged in many activities in order to meet the budget. Some of these were the Curtis Publication Drive and the Spring Carnival.

The P.T.A. provided money for sending a delegate to Girls' State and for five $100 scholarships, which are given each year to deserving seniors. They also sponsored Treadwell's Science Fair.

The interests of the P.T.A. went far beyond the school. Under the leadership of their president, Mrs. J. F. Crossno, the P.T.A. endeavored to promote the welfare of children and youth in home, church, and community.

EXECUTIVE BOARD

SEATED: Mrs. Harry Sharp, Mrs. Lawson Danielson, Mrs. Radford Neighbours, Mrs. C. C. Collison, Mrs. J. D. Bowen, Mrs. J. F. Crossno, Mrs. Henry Jones, Mrs. Henry Raspberry, Mrs. L. P. Beaver, Mrs. Jack Wright, Mr. W. L. Maybry, Mrs. H. P. Loenneke, Mrs. L. M. Grant, Mrs. Bill Pittman, Mrs. W. I. Forrester, Mrs. J. H. Jones, Mrs. Robert Arquitt, Mrs. L. R. Pardue.

FACULTY

Presents a Challenge for Knowledge

Treadwell's faculty was the stimulating spark that inspired our program this year. Their enthusiastic interest and cooperation were appreciated by each member of the student body.

While working conscientiously to transmit their knowledge, these teachers also served as character-builders through their high ideals and principles. Such wholesome influence will indubitably affect tomorrow's citizens.

Aside from their classroom hours members of the faculty devoted their own time to the personal counseling of students. Their friendly advice and intense concern with individual problems, vocational decisions, and college plans strengthened the student-faculty link.

Once again we find the faculty's interest in student affairs manifested by their donation of time and assistance with extracurricular activities. Without their service as chaperons and advisors, Treadwell's club and social program would be impossible.

We salute you, our faculty, and render our most sincere gratitude for your ever present inspiration.

Elementary Faculty Forms the Basis for Learning

Steadfastly molding the minds of our youth, the elementary faculty laid the framework for tomorrow's world. Upon the shoulders of these teachers lay the task of developing personalities and of teaching the fundamentals so necessary to modern education.

Aside from being well-trained teachers, this group also served as part-time mothers, nurses, and big sisters. As the twig is bent, so grows the tree: this motto inspired our faculty to the high achievements they attained this year.

Supervising playground activities is one of the duties of the elementary teacher.

After finishing his vegetables, an elementary student purchases his dessert from Mrs. Carrie Arata.

Mrs. Vivian Vaughn sets an example of the cheery service given every student in the lunchroom.

The application of speedy arithmetic is a requirement for Mrs. Esta Milam's daily tasks in our cafeteria.

Our cafeteria is under the expert direction of Mrs. Elsie Ison, head dietician; Mrs. Esta Milam, and Mrs. Vivian Vaughn, assistant cafeteria managers; and Mrs. Carrie Arata, head cashier.

Steaming plate lunches are served to 3,000 students daily. One porter and twenty-three maids assist in the cafeteria. Special meals are planned for Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter. The favorite menu of the senior high is roast beef, dressing, English peas, potatoes, apple pie, ice cream, and milk.

CAFETERIA MANAGEMENT

Hungry senior high students eagerly make their selection in the lunch line.

Heading the maintenance crew after school hours is Mr. H. R. Harwell, our night custodian (not pictured). As the newest addition to our staff of custodians, Mr. Harwell is doing a fine job.

MAINTENANCE STAFF

Keeping Treadwell clean was a mammoth task! Through the efforts of one of the finest school maintenance staffs in Memphis, the students and the faculty of Treadwell were able to enjoy clean buildings and healthful facilities. To these unseen people in our school life goes a vote of thanks from both students and faculty.

Excitement plus hard work plus dreams are the ingredients that composed our memories of 1958-59 at Treadwell! With another year behind us we can appreciate the knowledge gained, the friendships won, and the goals attained. Through classwork we developed traits of dependability and self-reliance; enthusiastic support of our athletic program strengthened school spirit and promoted unfaltering loyalty; extracurricular activities developed qualities of leadership and initiative which will stay with Treadwell graduates all through life.

Follow Mr. and Miss Treadwell as they review briefly the events and experiences which played an important role in molding our lives.

SEPTEMBER:

Back to the Classroom

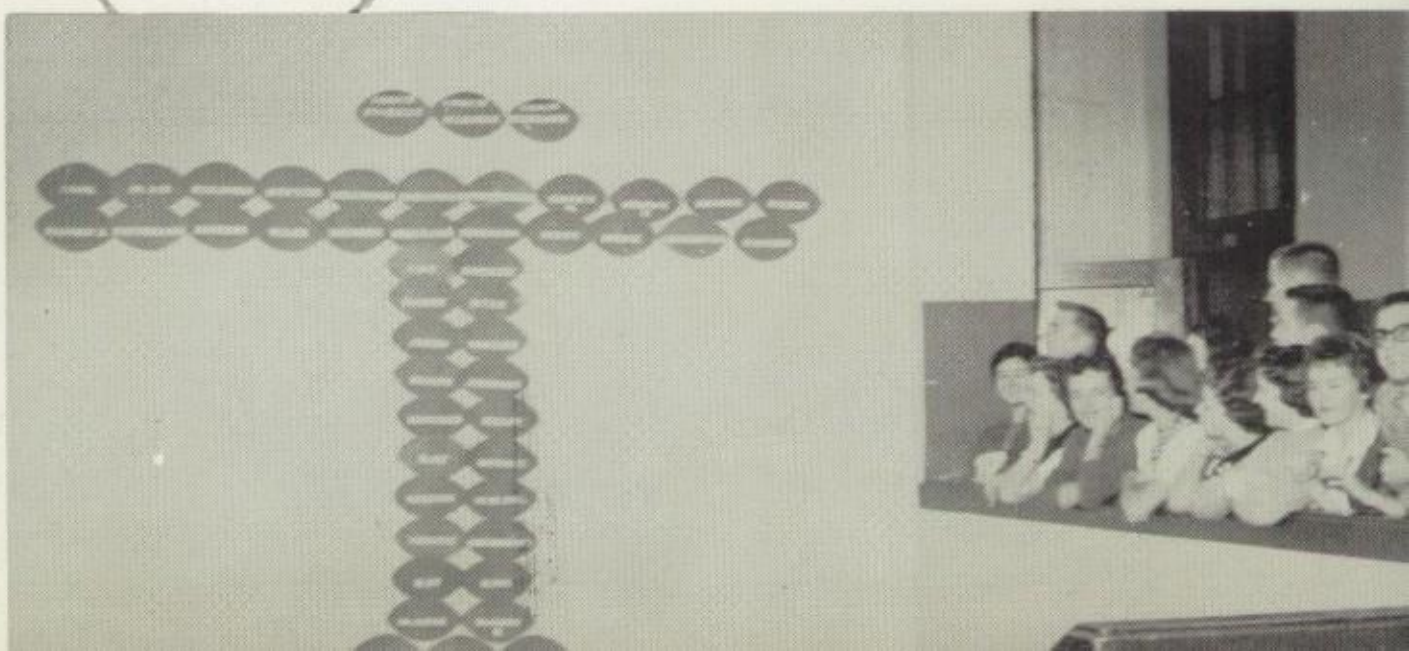
Tennessee Ernie Ford becomes acquainted with our band after a performance at the Dallas State Fair.

The functions of Junior Achievement were explained by Dr. R. W. Colston, director of J. A. in Memphis.

The first event of the senior year was the problem of registering for the last time.

Spirit for the first pep meeting was aroused by the cheerleaders as the band played "Hot Time In The Old Town Tonight."

During lunch hour these seniors were caught viewing the "T" for Treadwell made up of the names of the 1959 football team.



OCTOBER:

Students Cheered the Football Team

Mr. Maybry administers the Honor Society pledge to the sixteen seniors tapped in the fall ceremony.

Norma Cowan and Al Johnson won the awards for the best costumes at the Spanish Club initiation.

Marilyn Word, Bob Strickland, Glenna Boales, and Ronnie Swain decorate the goal post before a football game.

Miss Grammer and her "first graders for a day" take part in the Annual Kickoff.

NOVEMBER:

Speech Department Presented "Dear Ruth"

Charles Halford's entrance brought despair to Mary Carolyn Campbell, Scott Moyers, and Janelle Winters in the speech department's presentation of "Dear Ruth."

Linda Stanley, Rita Dungey, Janice McCamon, Margaret Dunivan, and Nancy Parham pack Thanksgiving baskets for the FHA.

Our Color Guard leads the R.O.T.C. Battalion in the Armistice Day parade.

John Neal, Douglas Janss, Wayne Rushton, and Larry Walker salute Alice McNeely, as the Key Club Sweetheart, and her alternates, Mildred Ballinger and Sandra Vaughn.

Barbara Gann and John Neal sell the "Eagle's Call" to A. C. Williams, Glenna Boales, Francis Perry, and Bozo Ware.

DECEMBER:

Banquet Honored Football Team

The football players and their dates enjoy the program at the football banquet.

Coach Hardke congratulates Ronnie Durby and David Howard on their election as captains of the football team of 1959-1960.

Wayne Rushton presents a bouquet of roses to Patsy Boals, the Football Queen of 1959, while her alternates, Janice Cobb and Mildred Ballinger look on.

Nationally known bandleader, Ralph Flanigan, paid a surprise visit to the annual band party.

Left: Bill Jones, Linda Laney, Craig Leake, Tommy Geiger, and Kay Schuele take part in the Christmas play.

JANUARY:

Basketball Brought

Winning Streaks

Joe Rhodes accepts the championship trophy from the Moose Tournament after Treadwell beat Bartlett 41-36.

Mrs. W. I. Forrester was introduced by Faye Davis and Linda Stanley at the Parliamentary Law Class, sponsored by the FHA for all club and homeroom officers.

Mr. Fowler demonstrates first aid in giving oxygen.

Before a game, the varsity team jokingly plan a slaughter for their opponents.

FEBRUARY:

Cupid Visited Valentine Dance

Ronnie Swain, Carolyn Grant, Mr. Harton, Judy Forrester, and Aubrey Smith took the elevator up to the Tri-S Club party.

After a long wait, the football jackets and sweaters finally arrived. Coach Hardke presents Wayne Rushton his jacket as the other recipients watch.

The S.A.B. officers, their dates, and Mr. Maybry gather around the piano to request a favorite number at the Valentine Dance.

June Bryan, Mrs. Hughes, Sponsor; Judy Forrester, Lauran Waldran, Ronnie Swain, Linda Palmer, Nancy Hannings, and Larry Davis study the Commercial Appeal in preparation for their appearance on "Quiz-'Em on the Air."

MARCH:

S.A.B. Elected New Officers

Ralph Haynes, a candidate on the White Ticket, delivers the speech which won him the office of president of the Student Advisory Board.

These students worked hard painting signs and planning a campaign to put their S.A.B. candidates in office.

Dr. Cletus Oakley from Haverford College, Haverford, Pennsylvania, explains a new type of algebra to a group of math students.

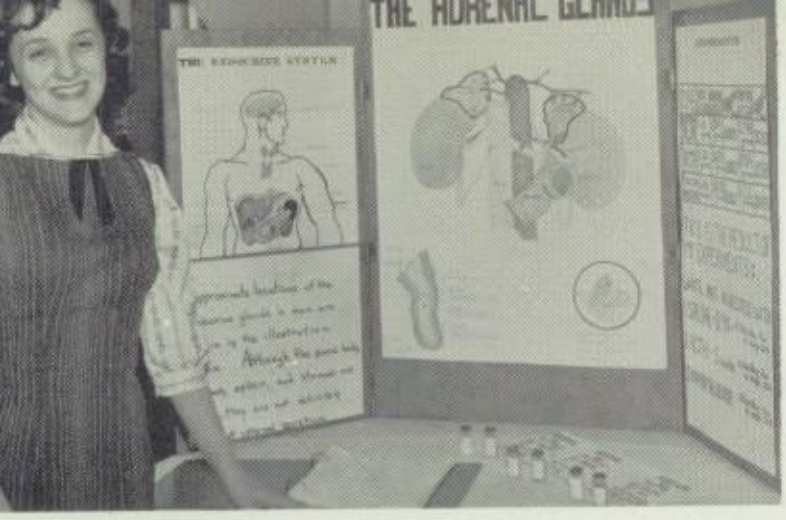
The "Sky Rockets" from Freed-Hardeman College entertain with songs and short talks designed to promote their Alma Mater.

At the Inaugural Ball the two opposing tickets were introduced: Traffic Chief candidates, Larry Walker and John Neal; Girls' President candidates, Joy Lott and Barbara Gann; Boys' President candidates, Douglas Janss and Ralph Haynes; Chaplain candidates, Barbara Nabors and Gerry Easley.

APRIL:

Honor Society Tapped

New Members



project on the adrenal glands brought a first place ward in the girls division of the Treadwell Science Fair to Lauran Waldran.

Joe Morton won first place in the Physics division of the Treadwell Science Fair with his fresnel lens.

Miss Johnson, the senior class sponsor, measures Ervin Montgomery for his cap and gown.

Judy Forrester serves the parents at the reception after the National Honor Society induction.

These Treadwellites, coached by Bill McClain, volunteered for the American Legion baseball team.

MAY:

Prom Highlighted Social Events

Juniors and seniors dance to the music of Bob Morris in the Continental Ballroom of Hotel Peabody, scene of the long-awaited Prom.

Ralph Haynes greets Inspector J. K. Caughley and Patrolman D. W. Williams and Patrolman J. R. Hester, who spoke at an assembly during Crime Prevention Week.

At the arrival of the annuals Darnell Rye, Jimmy Archibald, Glenda Turner, Joann Nichols, and Randall Shines were among the first seen exchanging signatures.

Proud seniors Larry Houston, Milda Echols, Donnie Dennis, Joy Lott, and Corky Irwin display their treasured class rings.

JUNE:

Graduation Came at Last

Jimmy Mayo and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Mayo, discuss with Mr. Maybry plans for Jimmy's college education.

At a joint Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y meeting, Mr. Al Marcus, Director, introduces speakers from various vocations.

These students, exemplifying many of Treadwell's seniors interested in continuing their education, are seen in Miss Jeter's room browsing through college catalogs.

SPORTS

GYMNASIUM

"T-R-E-A-D-W-E-L-L!" Once again sports were the determining factor that promoted the spirit of Treadwell High. Sports played a double role—giving participants valuable training in teamwork and athletic skills, developing the quality of loyalty among spectators, as well as providing recreation for all. Glowing examples of Treadwell's skill in sports are the outstanding records which our teams compiled this year. We at Treadwell appreciate the long hours and hard work of those who represented our school in athletic events.

In the following pages review with Mr. and Miss Treadwell our gratifying sports record for 1958-59.

Our coaches put in many long hard hours both on and off the field. Whether teaching the fundamentals, or scouting the other teams, the coaches' day is a long one.

To this year's coaching staff, several new faces were added. Joining our excellent coaching staff headed by Coach Hardke, was the capable line coach, Coach Powell Puckett, and taking charge of the "B" team this year was Coach Joe Peterson. Last, but not least, is "Doc" Fowler, who is always standing by to administer first aid to the injured player. Under their combined efforts, the team learned valuable lessons in teamwork and sportsmanship.

Coaches Hardke and Puckett demonstrate proper blocking as Coach Peterson and "Doc" Fowler look on.

BABY EAGLES

Learn Athletic Skills

Under the fine coaching of Bill Luttrell and Claude Scott, the 1958 Baby Eagles enjoyed a very successful year. While winning six, they only lost one game in regular league play. Although the Baby Eagles were forced to forfeit three ball games, they gained experience and displayed good sportsmanship throughout the year.

Interest in the football team was displayed by the fact that only three members quit the team during the year. The Baby Eagles will lose twenty-one team members in June, but there are nine returning lettermen for the next season.

Prep CHAMPS District

"Victory!" This rousing motto spurred Coach McClain's cagers to the most outstanding season in Treadwell's history. The Prep League Basketball Crown was captured by a twenty-one to one record. The same skill, speed, and scoring that won the Championship also brought first-place trophies for the Moose Invitational Tournament, the 29th District Tournament, and a second place trophy in the Region Eight Tournament to the school's trophy case. Winning second place in the Region Eight Tournament enabled the team to play in the state tournament in Nashville where they reached the quarter-finals.

Many long hours of hard running to get into shape was very evident as the Treadwell Eagles placed third in the annual Cross Country run.

The race is usually run on Thanksgiving morning, but bad weather caused the race to be postponed for a week.

CHEERLEADERS

Boost Spirit Through Pep and Vitality.

School spirit was boosted this year by the enthusiastic efforts of the cheerleaders. Preparations for the season began early as the girls held practice during the summer. During the fall, they devoted many afternoons and evenings to painting signs and planning skits for the pep meetings.

Each pep meeting was designed to arouse the spirit of the team and promote the interest of the student body. This was accomplished through the combined efforts of the band and the cheerleaders, by cheers, music, and skits.

Whether in a football stadium or a high school gymnasium, the school spirit headed by the cheerleaders is the force that drives our team on to victory.

Burying the Central Warriors was the highlight of the pep meeting preceding the much anticipated Central game.

BOYS' PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Encourages Sportsmanship

Our Boys' Physical Education Department has an objective program that will help to build the whole individual — his mind as well as his body. Building physical fitness and alertness, as well as teaching principles of fair sportsmanship, are the primary ideals of this department. Through instruction in the fundamentals of football, basketball, volleyball, softball, and track, the boys learn the importance of mental keenness and proper coordination.

Boys do calisthenics under Coach Luttrell's direction.

Viewing classroom scenes at Treadwell provides a visitor with an insight into the many branches of our curricula: the fundamental courses necessary for good citizenship, specialized academic courses designed to meet the demand of the scientific world, the vocational courses which train students to assume an occupation upon graduation. The opportunities and responsibilities encountered in the classroom challenged students to prepare themselves, both intellectually and socially, for the duties of tomorrow.

With Mr. and Miss Treadwell let us now open the doors of knowledge as we visit the classes that form the core of Treadwell.

CLASSROOM

SPANISH

Mrs. Patterson points out an interesting fact to her Spanish students Dick Guthrie and Peggy Howell.

Adventure, romance, knowledge, and satisfaction—these are the elements found in Treadwell's foreign language courses. Students who delved into the two languages offered at Treadwell, Latin and Spanish, were enlightened as to the customs and cultures of the foreign lands. Study of a classical language broadened vocabularies, while knowledge of a romantic language was put to conversational use.

LATIN

Miss Park watches with approval as Nancy Gramlick, Kathy Ball, and Barbara Tapp study their first year Latin.

JUNIOR ENGLISH

In junior English Miss Deadrick explains the principles of diagramming as Betty Morris, Shirley Graves, and Carolyn Maharrey illustrate to Shirley Nolen, Clif Jamison, and Ella Meter, how it is done.

ENGLISH

The development of a better vocabulary, the employment of creative thinking and the correct use of sentence structure were the essential grammar goals of the Treadwell High School English Department. An individual cannot advance in our modern complex world unless he knows the fundamentals of speaking, writing, reading, and listening. Through the wide world of literature imaginations were given freedom to explore, appreciate, and understand the arts.

Speech courses, which are very popular in our school, teach invaluable skills which better equip the individual to communicate his ideas and opinions.

SENIOR ENGLISH

In senior English, Michael Doris, Dixie Austin, Nouvell Gordon, Larry Douglas, and Lynn Fly discuss the illustrations from Ivanhoe with Miss King.

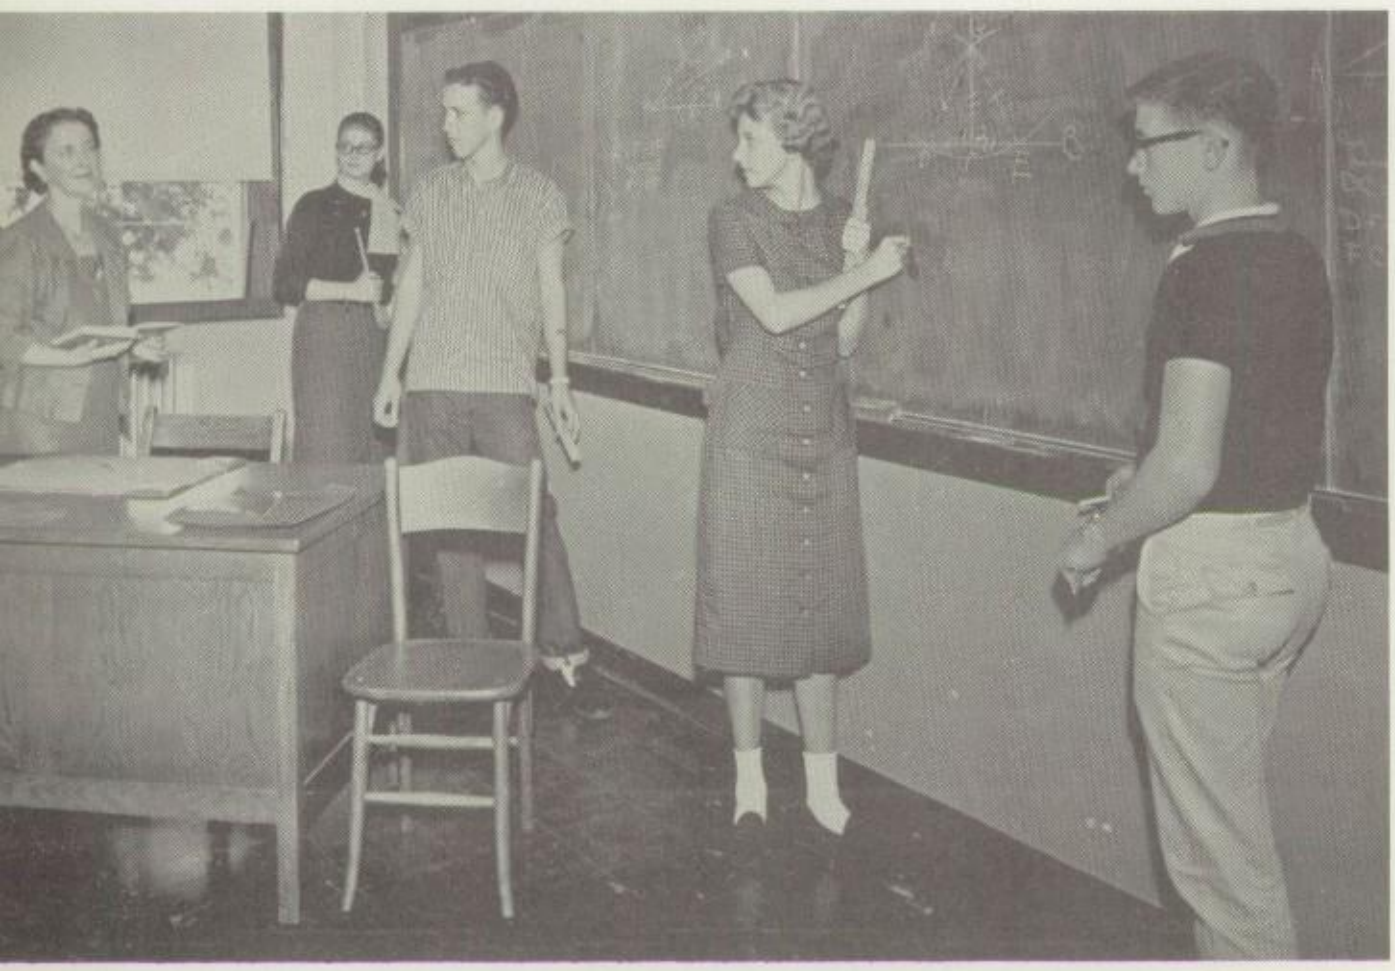
ART

Art classes provided the gifted student with a chance to show and develop his talents. The students made valuable contributions to the school by assisting with the publicity of coming events and by providing colorful exhibits. This year's outstanding project was the designing of the scenery for the Junior-Senior Prom.

Larry Gardin, Brenda Cavitt, Richard Williams, and Helen Zumbro display their talent in art as Miss Stahl lends a helping hand.

SOLID GEOMETRY

As Emanual Cheek describes a hexagonal prism, Miss Johnson and her solid geometry class listen attentively.



Ruler and chalk in hand, Dot Moffatt, Jack Little, Betty Robinson, and Pete Brown wait for Miss Jeter to give them further assistance with their plane geometry problems.

MATHEMATICS

PLANE GEOMETRY

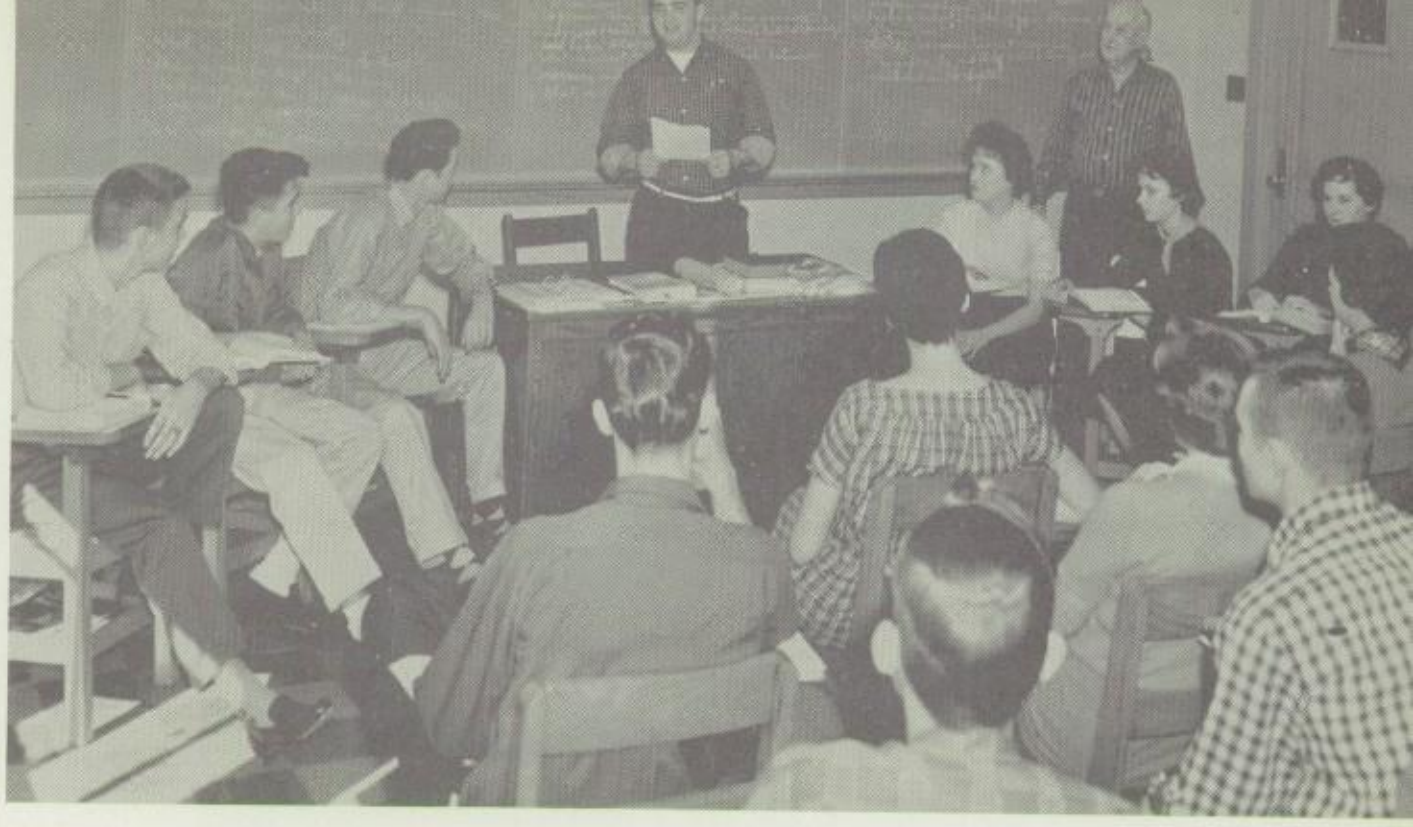
In the field of mathematics students found an outlet for their reasoning power and initiative. Neatness and accuracy are two musts of the math student. The mathematics classes offered at Treadwell often provide the basis for future careers.

ALGEBRA I

Mrs. Nations observes her pupils as they develop the rudiments of first year algebra.

SOCIAL STUDIES

In our modern world, history plays an important role in promoting citizenship. Thrilling events from the pages of the past were relived as students studied such topics as the Civil War, Abraham Lincoln, and World War II. A part of each day, however, was devoted to the study of current events, so that Treadwell students would be well informed as to the problems of our time.



PROBLEMS OF DEMOCRACY

John Elkins, Joe Neyman, Emanuel Cheek, Becky Phillips, Martha Faught, and Shirley Diebolt listen as Joe Sullivan narrates a debate in problems.

WORLD HISTORY

As Eddie Cash reads about different countries, John Elkins points them out to the members of Mrs. Ellis' history class.

AMERICAN HISTORY

Driver Education enters the classroom as Mr. Fowler discusses safe driving habits with his history class.

Under Mr. Reding's supervision John Collins, Allen Lacy, Donna Roberts, Joe Morton, and A. C. Williams prepare experiments for their P.S.S.C. Physics Class.

P.S.S.C. PHYSICS

Treadwell Seniors were given an opportunity to participate in the revolutionary physics course prepared by the Physical Science Study Committee. In the new course use was made of text books, motion picture films, and numerous monographs. An effort was made to stimulate creative ability rather than rote learning. This course was offered in only five schools in the United States in 1957-58, but in 1958-59 it was offered in two hundred eighty schools. Treadwell and Oak Ridge were the only two in Tennessee offering the course.

With the help of Mrs James, Annette Gordon Bonnie Taylor, John Carl trell, Larry Hayes and Jo

Nancy Hannings, Joy Lott, June Bryan, and Joe Morton experiment with waves in a ripple tank as Mr. Hoffart, a visitation representative of the Physical Science Study Committee, from Watertown, Massachusetts, and Mr. Reding, teacher of the physics class, watch with approval.

CHEMISTRY

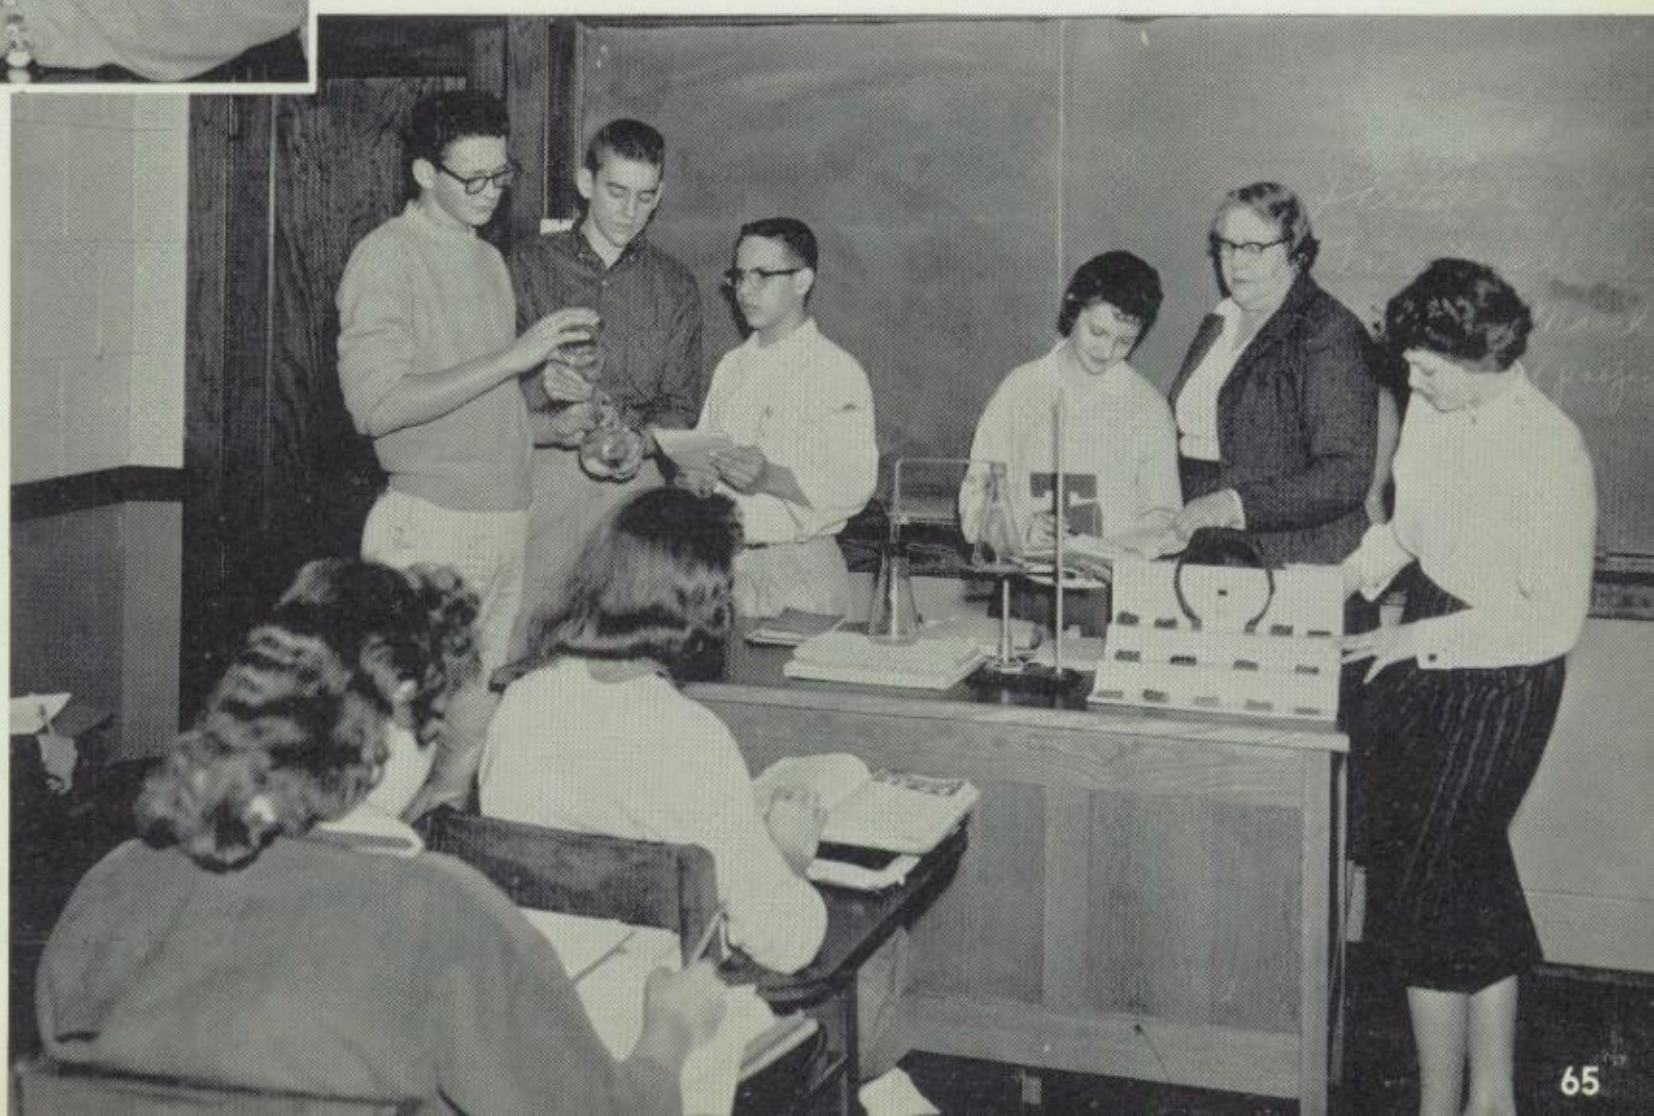
In Mr. Puckett's chemistry class the students watch as Kenneth Miller, Ronnie Durby, Nancy Raynor, and Lauran Waldran demonstrate an experiment.

SCIENCE

Science is the key that unlocks the untold mysteries of the world. Our classes aided the cultivation of curiosity, open-mindedness, and cautious judgment. In biology the students working on insect and leaf collections gained an understanding of our natural world. Chemistry classes provided answers to the questions concerning the composition of matter.

-Y

Heinz are studying the skeletal system in biology class.



GENERAL SCIENCE

Mrs. Hutchens directs her general science students Jerry Levy, Don Moore, Duane Mills, Judith Collison, and Mary Helen Tipton in their first attempt in a laboratory experiment.

COMMERCIAL LAW

Mr. Lineberry stands by as Nancy Levy, Betty Richardson, Karron Leatherwood, Jim Reynolds, Frank Willis, and Grady Miller discuss the fundamentals of law.

Commercial law classes offered at Treadwell are based on the theme of consumer protection. This study gave the students an insight into the principles by which we are governed.

A knowledge of insurance, contracts, and other business forms was gained through the mastery of this subject; thus, commercial law proved valuable in producing well-informed citizens.

COMMERCIAL STUDIES

TYPING

Miss Walker times Murray Johnson, Demetra Cullum, Marcheta Greene, Martha Bowen, and Paul Pannell on a speed test in their first year typing.

Training received in the office practice classes provided practical experience for the everyday problems in the business world.

Shorthand is a valuable asset in all walks of life. Students taking shorthand, learned the art of condensing words rapidly. Bookkeeping courses at Treadwell taught the fundamentals of accounting, billing, and recording. Treadwell's commercial classes were sound training for those who planned to enter full time employment after graduation.

SHORTHAND

Mrs. Morris dictates a letter to her very attentive first year shorthand class.

BOOKKEEPING

Marilyn Word watches as Mr. Taylor shows her how the bookkeeping equation A=L+P is used.

OFFICE PRACTICE

Mrs. Buffaloe teaches Peggy French, Judy Boartfield, Judy Lee, and Brenda Cavitt how to operate the various office machines.

HOME ECONOMICS

Homemaking courses offered at Treadwell trained girls in the various aspects of providing pleasant surroundings for a happy family relationship. Watching films, listening to guest speakers, and participating in panel discussions made family relations interesting as well as practical. The arts of food preparation and clothing construction are the main assets in the homemaker's life.

SENIOR CLOTHING

Bonnie Cole, Maureen Hamrick, Gwen Moore, Donna Cooper, Nouvell Gordon, and Marcheta Green exhibit the fashions they made in Miss Tisdale's fall clothing class.

SENIOR FOODS

Sara Wier, Georgia Sanders, Charlotte McCracken, Mary Terry, and Mary Dutton prepare tantalizing cookies for the Christmas Open House.

JUNIOR CLOTHING

Mrs. Buford makes sure her clothing class understands the principles of constructing their first garments.

METAL SHOP

Jerry Owens listens as Mr. Vickery explains how to ope rate the bending machine in metal shop.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

Skill and accuracy are main assets for shop students in their later careers as carpenters and architects. They were taught the fundamentals of carpentry and model building, and learned the correct use of their equipment and materials. The most industrious boys gained self-confidence and valuable training in shop.

MODEL BUILDING

These young boys develop ability while working on their projects under Mr. Frederick's supervision in model building.

WOOD SHOP

Ray Prescott, Don Jackson, and Terry Jones watch Mr. Crumpton as he shows them how to operate the various machines in wood shop.

AUDITORIUM

ACTIVITIES

In providing recreation, in building leadership ability, in furthering academic knowledge outside of classrooms, and in building a firm social foundation—nothing can equal the dividends gained by participation in our extracurricular activities. Our social and recreational activities became of lasting importance as we made life-long friends and acquired traits of independence, service, and co-operation. Clubs at Treadwell were planned with an eye to the interests of all!

Continue with Mr. and Miss Treadwell as they catch a glimpse of activities that recall never-to-be-forgotten events.

Providing the finest in musical entertainment, stimulating school spirit, and representing the school at various civic events, were some of the accomplishments of the Treadwell High School Band.

One of the first accomplishments and undoubtedly the most memorable one for the band was a three day trip to the Texas State Fair at Dallas. This trip was financed by two stage shows in which talent from all over the Mid-South was presented. Another out-of-town trip was taken to Tupelo, Mississippi, in support of the football team.

The band played at every one of Treadwell's football games. At four of the halves, the band put on interesting and colorful halftime shows.

Another important event in which the band participated was the formal opening of the annual Mid-South Fair in Memphis. The highlight of the year for the band was a gala Christmas party given at the Hotel Peabody, December 5. This party will long be a fond memory for those members who attended.

In January the band held its annual mid-winter concert which was a big success.

The band climaxed its year's work with its participation in the graduation exercises.

TWIRLERS

Nancy Raynor and Nola Lawson, feature twirlers, and Sandra Vaughn, head majorette, are a vital part of our majorette corps.

Some of the majorettes are seen rehearsing a modern dance, which was later presented at the annual winter concert.

MAJORETTES Add Sparkle to the Band

Under the leadership of head majorette, Sandra Vaughn, the majorettes added color and precision to the band as it performed at various events.

FIRST ROW: McDaniel, Goforth, Wilson, Durby, Dalrymple, Powell, Norfleet, Newman. SECOND ROW: Green, Hillard, Clark, Gray, Arnold, McBride, Lewis, Crawford.

BAND SENIORS

Performing at athletic contests, participating in parades, and taking out-of-town trips are a few of the memories the band seniors will always cherish.

FIRST ROW: McDaniel, Crawford, Gann, Wilson, Vaughn, Arnold, Gray. SECOND ROW: Walker, Cowan, Noonan, Carr, Archibald, Ragsdale, Morton. THIRD ROW: Emerick, Davis.

Mr. Harlo McCall, director and talented trumpet player, gives his rendition of "Carnival of Venice" to a capacity crowd at the stage show presented in the fall. The purpose of this show was to finance the band's trip to the Texas State Fair at Dallas.

BAND OFFICERS

Supervising classroom activities, and setting a pattern of conduct for the band members are some of the duties of the senior band officers.

FIRST ROW: Jackson, Librarian; Hill, Custodian; Vaughn, Social Chairman; Gann, Drum Major; Carr, Librarian; Noonan, Treasurer. SECOND ROW: Walker, Student Director; Archibald, Social Chairman; Davis, President; Cowan, Secretary; Emerick, Merit Recorder; Ragsdale, Vice President.

JUNIOR BAND Shows Rapid Improvement

This year could only be described as one full of excitement, entertainment, and achievement for the Junior High Band. Participating in activities at Treadwell for the third year, the sixty-five member band worked very hard to become eligible for the Senior Band next fall. The band performed at pep meetings, football games, and the Christmas Parade, and presented a concert in December for the elementary school.

Our band practiced diligently in last minute preparation for the Annual Spring Concert.

Sandra Vaughn, the Treadwell Band Queen, and her alternates, Kay Crawford and Suzy Gray, were announced at the Christmas Dance. The setting for this annual social activity was Hotel Peabody.

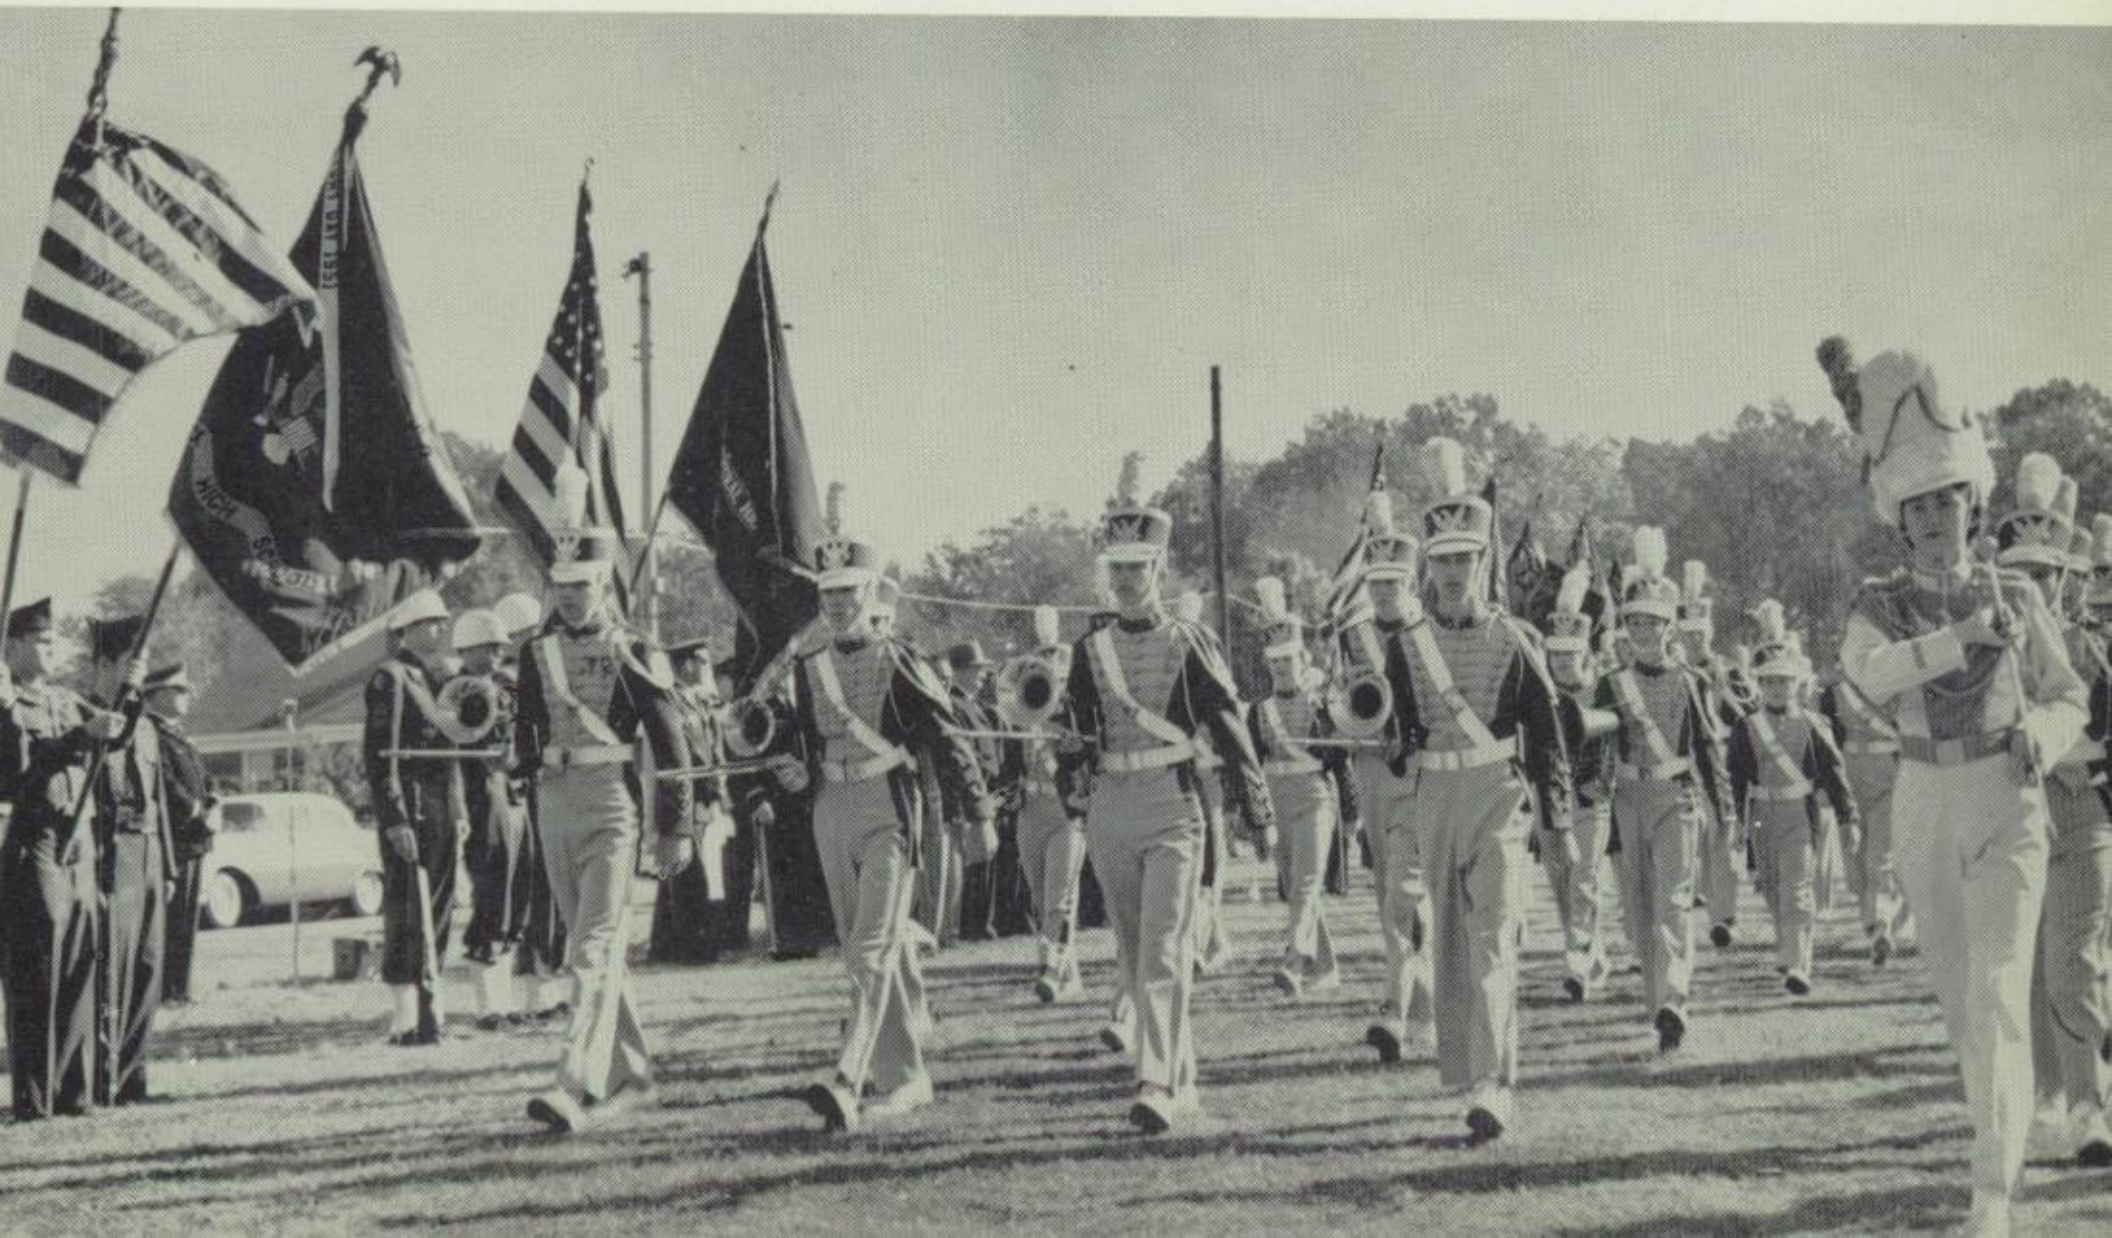
FIRST ROW: Spencer, Woodruff, Ellis, Morton, Walker, Cowan, Davis. SECOND ROW: Baker, Ray, Vinson, Moyers, Emerick, Ragsdale, Drake.

STAGE BAND

Practical experience in the modern phases of instrumental music was provided by the Stage Band. Anything from presenting jazz concerts to accompanying local professional artists was tackled with enthusiasm by the students who comprise this band.

PARADE BAND

Displaying marching precision, the Treadwell High School band performs at the military ceremony in which the Memphis high schools received new R.O.T.C. flags.



MILITARY

While Cadet Colonel Larry Cockrum (left) and Master Sergeant Thomas Boyle (right) discuss plans for Federal Inspection, First Sergeant Richard Davis conducts inspection of cadets' rifles in preparation for the event.

RESERVE OFFICERS TRAINING CORPS

Develops Leadership, Character and Spirit.

"Tomorrow's Minute Men," is the motto of the Reserve Officers Training Corps. The cadets are taught various subjects: leadership, drill and command, weapons, map reading and aerial photography, tactics, military organization, marksmanship, etc. It gives them the opportunity to accept responsibility and leadership readily, aiding them as they mature and become leaders of tomorrow.

Our participation in the Veterans Day Parade, competing with the other six high schools, was an outstanding event even though we did not march away with the trophy as we did last year and three out of the last five years. We let the other units know that Treadwell R.O.T.C. is striving for first place again.

The drill team's visit to Vanderbilt for the all-state drill competition was a beautiful spectacle to behold; its appearance with its usual snap and precision is something we can all be proud of.

The annual Military Ball for the officers and sponsors with four hundred attending was a tremendous success.

The annual Command Maintenance Inspection came off without a hitch, as heretofore Treadwell received a "Superior" rating. We did well in the informal inspection and another "Superior" rating was attained during the Federal Inspection. This could not have been possible without the full cooperation and teamwork of our cadets. With another year fading away, we can proudly say ours was another job well done.

Battalion Commander Lieutenant Colonel Larry Cockrum reviews the Battalion with Mr. E. C. Stimbert, Superintendent of Memphis City Schools, and Colonel E. P. Thompson, Chief of Tennessee Military District.

Mr. E. C. Stimbert and Mr. W. L. Maybry present the colors to the battalion as Master Sergeant Boyle and Colonel E. P. Thompson look on.

NCO CLUB

A dance and an all-night bowling party at which Cadet Sgt. Dan Gallarno scored the most points were some of the highlights for the NCO club, made up exclusively of non-commissioned officers.

R.O.T.C. BAND

Keeping the Battalion in step and setting the "pace" during the parade must be contributed to the R.O.T.C. Band.

RIFLE TEAM

Some of the more important matches that our rifle team fired in were the Third Army Match and the William Randolph Hearst Match in which Cadet Sgt. Lacy fired the highest score for Treadwell. Cadet Capt. Alfred Johnson directed the rifle team.

STUDENT ADVISORY BOARD

Linking the faculty with the student body in a firm, efficient manner, the Student Advisory Board capably served Treadwell. A democratic form of student government was employed in the election of homeroom representatives and general officers, as well as in council meetings.

S.A.B. provided many services such as monthly calendars, monitors, office assistants, and the blessing followed by music each day at lunch.

Assemblies came under S.A.B. planning. This group also promoted special projects: citizenship week, Christmas baskets, a student directory, and opportunities for fun and recreation with occasional dances.

Dr. Jerry L. Glisson, pastor of Leawood Baptist Church, spoke to the student body during an S. A. B. assembly.

These are the officers who guided Treadwell's Student Advisory Board: (bottom to top) Emily Hatcher, Social Chairman; John Neal, Traffic Chief; Gail Hoover, Secretary; Bobby Walton, Treasurer; Gerry Easley, Chaplain; Tommy Scott, Social Chairman; Barbara Gann, Girl President; Ralph Haynes, Boy President.

TENTH GRADE REPRESENTATIVES

JUNIOR S.A.B.

REPRESENTATIVES

OFFICERS: Jim Fowler, Vice President; Leslie Wood, President; Penny James, Secretary; Gayle Bowen, Delegate at Large; Linda Dlugach, Traffic Chief.

Four officers from each ninth grade home room composed the Junior High Student Advisory Board. This council provided an effective means by which junior high students were able to practice self-government in a practical, though limited way.

One of the principal duties of the Junior S.A.B. was to provide informative, interesting assembly programs once every two weeks. This responsibility was rotated among the ten ninth grade sections.

The Junior S.A.B. trained the leaders of junior high so that they would be capable of even greater leadership and service in senior high school and in home and community life in years to come.

JUNIOR HONOR SOCIETY

To create an enthusiasm for superior scholarship, to develop loyal citizenship, to stimulate a desire to serve faithfully one's community and country, to instill exemplary qualities of character — all are the high goals of the Junior Honor Society.

Each six weeks this organization sponsors an assembly program. At this they award pins to the boys and girls who have made first and second honor roll; banners are awarded to the homerooms with the highest scholastic average in the boys' and girls' division.

One project this year included the sale of sweat shirts, crew hats, pennants, and scarves with the Treadwell emblem on each.

Mrs. J. Q. Wolf demonstrated her set of antique glasses during a Junior Honor Society assembly.

Judy Forrester, Emily Hatcher, Miss Ruby King, Advisor; Maribeth Smith, Carol Moore, Larry Davis, Mr. E. T. Fowler, Advisor; and Jimmy Mayo enjoy the reception following the fall induction service.

Tau Sigma Chapter

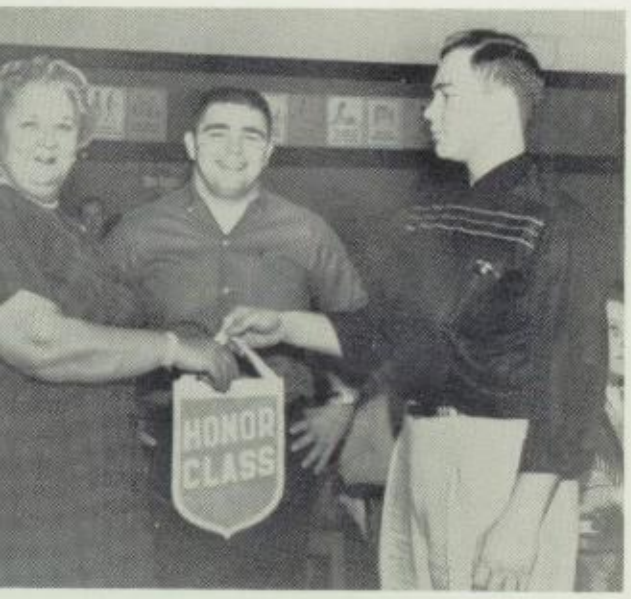
Signifying the height of achievement in scholarship, service, citizenship, leadership, and character is the Tau Sigma Chapter of the National Honor Society.

Students look with great interest and anticipation toward the semi-annual induction services of the chapter. A wonderful feeling of honor, yet humbleness, is long cherished by the ones who are inducted into membership.

Service projects included the addition of electric candelabras to the stage equipment, maintenance of a current file of alumni members, and a scrapbook of group activities. The year's principal money-making project was the sale of senior pins. This was transacted through the senior English classes.

Each six weeks the Honor Society awarded pins to those who made first honor roll; the homeroom with the highest scholastic average was presented with the honor banner.

OCIETY



Jimmy Mayo, President of the Honor Society, presented the honor banner to Miss Frances Castlemun and the 12-4 homeroom president, Joe Sullivan.

A. C. Williams bought a senior pin from Tommy Scott.

"EAGLE" NEWSPAPER STAFF

Treadwell's "Eagle" records newsworthy events and interesting activities of the school life. This year eight papers, the last one being a senior edition, were published by those students interested in journalism. Barbara Nabors and Gayle Parker, the co-editors, directed an editorial staff of eight, a business staff of three, and an assisting staff of thirty. A first class honor rating was awarded the "Eagle" by the National Scholastic Press Association.

Representing Treadwell, Barbara Nabors won third place in the annual journalism contest sponsored by "The Commercial Appeal." Gloria Tyner won an engraved trophy for her editorial on fire prevention.

Gayle Parker and Barbara Nabors, co-editors of the "Eagle," work strenuously to produce an interesting, informative newspaper for Treadwell students.

Activity staff developed individual pages: Joy Lott, senior pictures and faculty; Barbara Gann, band section; Judy Boartfield, classroom activities; Judy Forrester, ninth grade section; Suzanne Slover, calendar of events.

THE "EAGLE" YEARBOOK STAFF

Recording memories was the task of the annual staff. This energetic group devoted long, tedious hours to compiling the joyous, though sometimes difficult, experiences that marked the school year.

Copy writing, typing, editing, artistic ability—all talents were put to work in an effort to produce the best yearbook Treadwell ever had. With the mailing of the last copy came a feeling of accomplishment, a sigh of relief—and a crossing of fingers.

The 1958 volume of the "Eagle" was awarded the highest rating given by two of the major presses.

CLUBS

Clubs, the center of extracurricular activities, offered Treadwellites added information in academic fields and opportunities to develop leadership qualities, as well as the fun of social and recreational events. The cooperation between students and faculty, so necessary for successful club activities, encouraged mutual respect and understanding.

These organizations, with their regular business meetings promoted special projects, visited points of interest and provided social occasions.

The next pages depict the clubs of Treadwell, which have played such a vital role in Treadwell's educational process.

QUILL AND SCROLL

Young men and women of letters are recognized for their superior accomplishments by membership in the Treadwell chapter of the Quill and Scroll. This selective organization is composed of newspaper and yearbook staff members who have displayed initiative and creative ability. Through the stimulation of others with journalistic interests, each student was challenged to improve his own work.

AMERICAN JUNIOR RED CROSS

At Shelby County Hospital Treadwell students lead a group of patients in the singing of Christmas carols.

"Service to others." This is the purpose, goal, and principle of Junior Red Cross.

This year, for the first time, Treadwell's Red Cross Council was divided into a junior high council and a senior high council.

The junior council carried through several major projects: holiday favors for Shelby County Hospital, gift boxes for foreign countries, flower showers, and scrapbooks for Kennedy Hospital.

The senior council's projects were just as enthusiastically carried out: visits to the Shelby County Hospital, collection of pocket novels for the hospital, an international chest program, flower showers, and cookie showers.

LATIN CLUBS

"Latinus hodie vivit." Treadwell's Latin Clubs seek to prove that Latin lives today. The programs at monthly meetings presented Roman life in an interesting manner, thereby increasing the members' knowledge of Roman customs and history.

Highlight of the first semester was the initiation of first year Latin students. It must be admitted that second year students looked forward to this with more relish than the first year students.

A Latin banquet in finest Roman style climaxed the year.

SECOND YEAR LATIN CLUB

SPANISH CLUB

"La lengua de nuestros vecinos al sur." Through Treadwell's Spanish Club students studying the language of our southern neighbors had an opportunity to learn more about the customs and ideas of Spanish-speaking people all over the world.

In club activities a special effort was made to give members personal experience with Spanish people, Spanish foods, and realia. Field trips were made to Mexican restaurants, to Spanish movies, and to musical programs presented by Spanish-speaking people.

From acquired knowledge of our neighbors, we are better able to understand their actions, thus improving international relations.

FIRST ROW: D. Rye, A. Smith, M. Cole, M. Ballinger, Vice President; P. Boals, President. SECOND ROW: C. Taylor, L. Wright, G. Parker, M. Campbell, P. Turner, J. Little, . Pratt, D. Mrs. John Scott Lee, hostess at the Magevney House, explained items of interest to Lauran Waldran, Larry Douglas, and Joy King.

AMERICAN HISTORY CLUB

"You can't bring the past to life." Treadwell's American History Club proved this statement to be false for many Treadwellites last year.

Through field trips to the Magevney House, Desoto Park, and other points of interest in Memphis, members were able to relive events of the past. The outstanding trip of the year was to Shiloh Park.

Tri-S Club members enjoyed a dance at Hotel King Cotton.

FIRST ROW: Mr. Horton, Sponsor; M. Ballinger, Secretary; R. Swain, President; C. Grant, D. Rye. SECOND ROW: K. Crawford, J. Forrester, D. Cullum, C. Bolton, P. Turner, J. Cobb, J. Nichols, T. Lee, S. Merrell, J. Neyman, M. Dorris, D. Chandler. FIFTH ROW: C. Halford, B. Ware, E. Cheek, W. Ford.

TRI-S CLUB

Self, Service, Society! This was the theme of the Tri-S Club as it opened the year with a meeting, explaining the club motto. The Tri-S Club endeavors to promote social improvement among its members. The programs this year were those concerning social etiquette, service to community, and self-improvement. Members also participated in filling a Christmas basket for a needy family. The highlight of the year was a Christmas party at the Hotel King Cotton.

In January of 1959, for the second consecutive year, the Biology Club sponsored a clinic, under the direction of the Memphis-Shelby County Medical Society, at Treadwell for polio inoculations. The Clinic Plans were explained to the student body by Mrs. Vernon L. Place.

BIOLOGY CLUB

Juniors and seniors who were concerned about the place of science in our world tomorrow composed the Science Club. Lectures and discussions at meetings dealt with such topics as future space travel and Einstein's mass-energy theory. Field trips allowed members to explore scientific careers; recreational outings supplied fun and fellowship.

Laboratory technician, physician, teacher, pharmacist — the Biology Club offered insight into many such careers. Field trips to the University of Tennessee Medical Center, the Cancer Research Laboratory, and Memphis State University's biology department were made by members interested in these particular areas. Stimulating lectures at business meetings, service projects, financial projects, and social functions completed the year's agenda.

ROCKET CLUB

Average velocity, nose cones, firing pins — from these overheard terms one knew that the Rocket Club was having another meeting. This year junior and senior high boys who were interested in individual rocket projects organized to form this club. Through this group the boys were able to compare notes and discoveries. Group firings are advantageous in that the members gain not only from individual accomplishments or errors, but also from those of others in the group.

Chemistry, electricity, mechanics, and architecture — no matter in which of these fields of engineering a student's interest lay, he was able to find interesting information and companionship in Treadwell's Engineers' Club.

Each month a speaker trained in a particular area of engineering was asked to talk with the club. Many of the speakers were supplied by "Architects of Memphis."

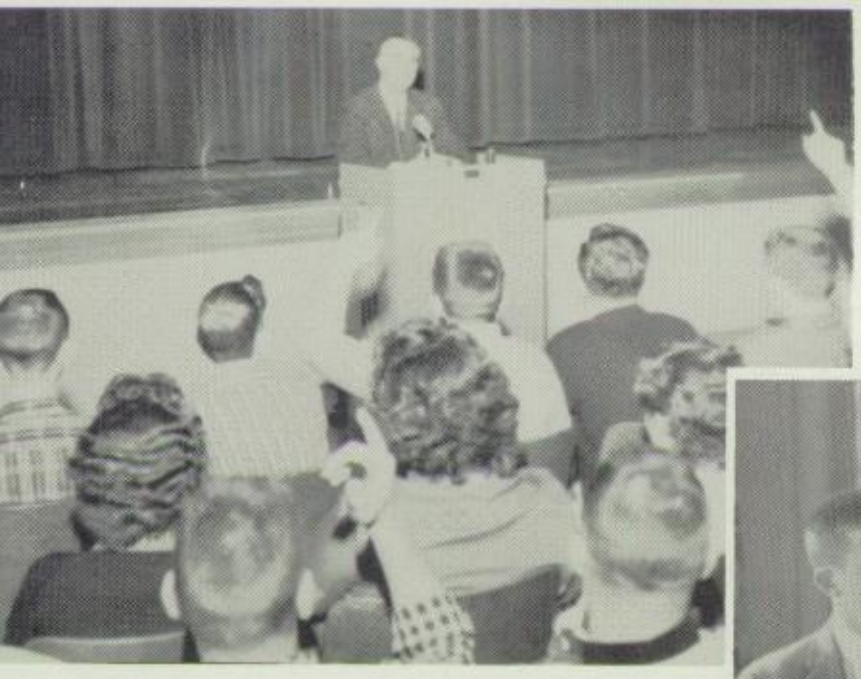
ENGINEERS' CLUB

Left to right: Ralph Laukaff, Bob McNeal, Mike Dorris, David Rauls, Dennis Goggin, Emanuel Cheek, Mr. Bruce Crumpton, Mr. William Vickery, Sponsors.

Vital members of tomorrow's business world — Members of the Secretarial Club learned more about the business world and became better acquainted with the duties of a good secretary through visits to business firms. Executives of various firms spoke at club meetings.

FIRST ROW: P. Galloway, P. Harris, J. Magee, M. Moore, P. French, V. Owen, J. Fletcher, R. Green. SECOND ROW: F. Morris, L. Lee, G. McLemore, D. Saulters, J. Boartfield, J. Lee, O. Nowell, B. Cavitt, B. Souder, J. Heinz, M. Faught, N. Sanders, E. Olive, President; J. Cobb.

SECRETARIAL CLUB



Judge Beverly Boushe spoke to the members of the Law Club.

Is this a prediction of the future? Perhaps someday Brenda Cavitt will be the efficient secretary to the noted lawyer James Barbee.

FIRST ROW: Mr. Lineberry, Sponsor; N. Levy, M. Word, Treasurer; K. Leatherwood, B. Richardson, President; J. Barbee, G. Miller, Vice President. SECOND ROW: E. Webb, D. Cullum, C. Grant. THIRD ROW: L. Houston, J. Terry, M. Darby, G. Boales. FOURTH ROW: R. Williams, F. Morris, N. Townsend. FIFTH ROW: B. Tatum, F. Willis, J. Bailey, S. Bradley, E. Clemmer.

LAW CLUB

Insurance, parliamentary procedure, and legal documents were only a few of the subjects discussed at Law Club meetings. The major project of the club was to distribute identification cards to students with emergency accident procedures printed on the back. Speakers during the year included judicial, law enforcement, and business authorities.

FIRST ROW: R. Baker, J. Gann, L. Crocker, B. South, R. Laukhuff, B. Williams, C. Sowell, M. Doris, C. Emerick. SECOND ROW: D. Foster, L. Cockrum, L. Beaver, J. Morton, E. Dunivant, S. Moyers, F. Drake, R. Ragsdale, B. Jones, T. Scott, J. Morris. THIRD ROW: Mr. J. D. Reding, Sponsor; G. Holt, R. Haynes, J. Mayo, L. Davis, L. Walker, Secretary; J. Neal, Treasurer; W. Rushton, Vice President; D. Janss, President; T. Geiger, R. Swain, L. Higginbotham.

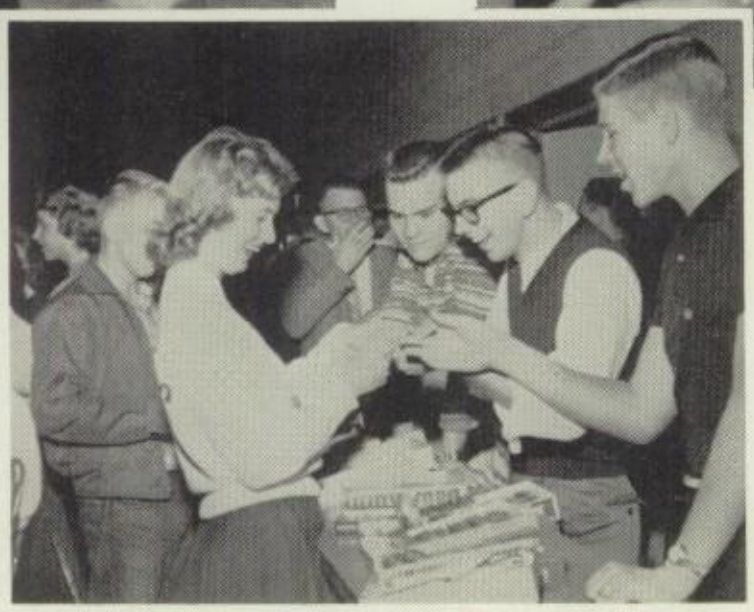
KEY CLUB

Service to school and community, and development of useful leaders, who will be capable of service to community, nation, and world in years to come, were the purposes of Treadwell's Key Club this past year.

Among the school projects were the operation of concession stands at basketball games, decoration of goal posts for the football games, and aiding the management of Treadwell's Science Fair.

The Honorable Stanley Dillard, City Commissioner, raises an amusing point at the Key Club Banquet.

At the Banquet Tommy Cunningham, Larry Walker, and Larry Davis present Key Club Sweetheart Alice McNeely and alternates Sandra Vaughn and Mildred Ballinger.



Members of the Key Club operated a concession stand during basketball games.

SENIOR Y-TEENS

FIRST ROW: M. Taylor, Secretary; M. Brandon, Chaplain; G. Guyton, President; A. Turpin, Vice President; G. Camp, Treasurer. SECOND ROW: J. Wood, D. Saxe, J. Pratt, K. Billion, J. Russell, D. Watkins, E. Hopkins, J. Byrum, N. Anderton, D. Davis. THIRD ROW: C. Lineberry, B. Younger, M. Terry, C. Hutchens, E. Burton, B. Cole, J. King, C. Chaille, K. Churchill, L. Raspberry, Mrs. Mildred James, Sponsor; J. Davis.

Senior Y-Teens compiled a scrapbook of their activities to be exchanged with a group of Y-Teens in another country.

Y-TEENS

"Y-Teens Grow" — They grow in friendship of all people, in the knowledge and love of God, and as individuals.

Part of this growth was felt by Treadwell's Y-Teens through projects such as the Christmas basket sponsored by the senior group and the sale of poppies on Veterans' Day by junior high students.

Treadwell's groups also participated in YMCA activities, including the sale of potato chips. Part of the funds from this campaign were used to send officers to camp for special leadership training.

"Today's Teenagers — Tomorrow's Homemakers." This was the theme that lead Treadwell's F.H.A. to fulfill its purpose, to develop creative leadership in home and community life. Fun and hard work round out the program of this group which included preparing a Thanksgiving basket for the needy and sponsoring parliamentary law classes for officers of all clubs at Treadwell. Money for these and other activities was raised through projects such as Hobo Day, skating parties, and the sale of attractive "Treadwell" bracelets.

Alice McNeely, one of Treadwell's outstanding F.H.A. girls, also served as president of the Memphis Sub-District.

FIRST ROW: J. Coker, P. Howell, N. Parham, R. Dungey, L. Stanley, M. Green, G. Guyton. SECOND ROW: G. Turner, N. Bourland, M. Dunivant, S. Cockrum, J. Lee, D. Watkins, B. Younger. THIRD ROW: J. JUNIOR F.H.A.

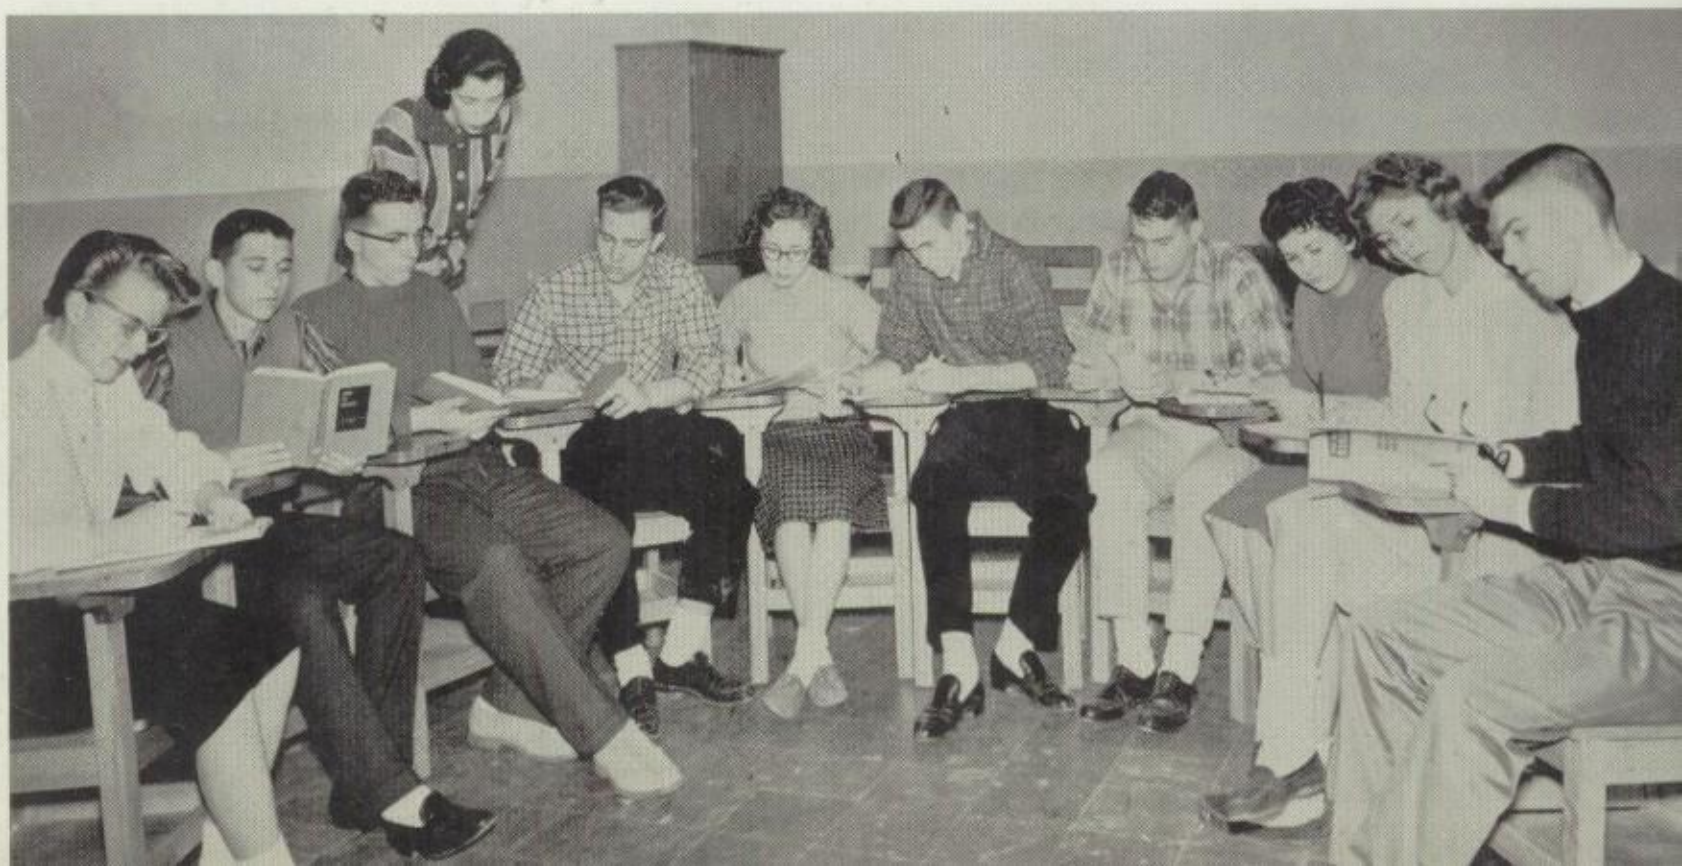
Through Junior F.H.A., freshman girls were able to look toward the future, when they would be America's homemakers, and trained themselves accordingly. They learned to improve their personal appearance and home living through lectures, demonstrations, and home projects. The outstanding project of the year was the dressing of dolls for the Goodfellows' Christmas drive.

These FHA girls dressed dolls for the Goodfellows' Christmas charity program.

DEBATE TEAMS

"Affirmative!" "Negative!" Members of a Treadwell debate team took a stand, and another interesting spirited debate was off to a good start.

Two debate teams represented Treadwell at various times during the year in Memphis and Shelby County. The team with the best record was sent to Louisville, Kentucky, for the Southern Speech Conference.

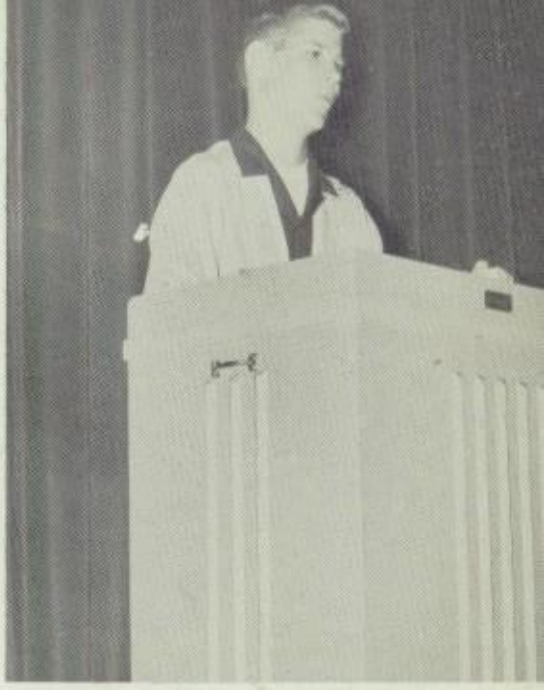


Left to right: S. Clark, M. McAfee, D. Rauls, Miss Eleanor Cooley, Advisor; J. Mayo, G. Tyner, T. Geiger, T. McEwen, V. Van Eaton, M. Word, T. Scott.

N.F.L.

Five Treadwell speech students earned membership in the National Forensic League last year. Activities participated in this year by Treadwell's NFL members included the Southern Speech Association in Louisville, Kentucky, the Voice of Democracy Contest, the Constitution Oratorical Contest, and Kiwanis Tennessee Interscholastic Literary League.

Students listen attentively as Peggy Turner reads a dramatic selection.



Scott Moyers delivers his oration, "Speak for Democracy."

Tommy Scott and Vicka Holt compile notes for a debate.

Compiling notes, Sandy Clark typed a speech for her next assignment.

NATIONAL THESPIAN SOCIETY

"Dear Ruth"—this was the successful, hilarious comedy, presented by Treadwell's National Thespian Society, that made itself "dear" to the funnybones of many Treadwellites as well as patrons in the community. This production was the most outstanding event of the year for the Thespians.

Other activities included a formal induction service during assembly and the production of a Christmas play.

Chapter #414 of Modern Music Masters, national honorary music society, was granted a charter at Treadwell in the fall of 1958. Membership requires satisfactory completion of a written examination and a performance. Thirteen members were inducted by the charter officer. Parents and friends were invited to attend the first formal initiation.

Establishment of this chapter has given incentive to students to improve their musicianship.

SENIOR CHORUS

High school musicians, seeking to develop musical knowledge and technique, found just such an opportunity in Treadwell's Senior Chorus.

At Christmas the chorus presented the cantata, "A Star in the Sky," for both the Parent-Teacher Association and the student body. Members of the group participated in the Memphis Music Festival and in the All-State Chorus, held in Nashville, Tennessee, during March.

To round out a year of hard work and fun, the entire chorus gave their annual Spring Concert.

WORLD HISTORY CLUB

One of Treadwell's newest organizations is the World History Club. It was begun last fall to stimulate interest in things of the past and to present to its members the relationship that history has in effecting our world today.

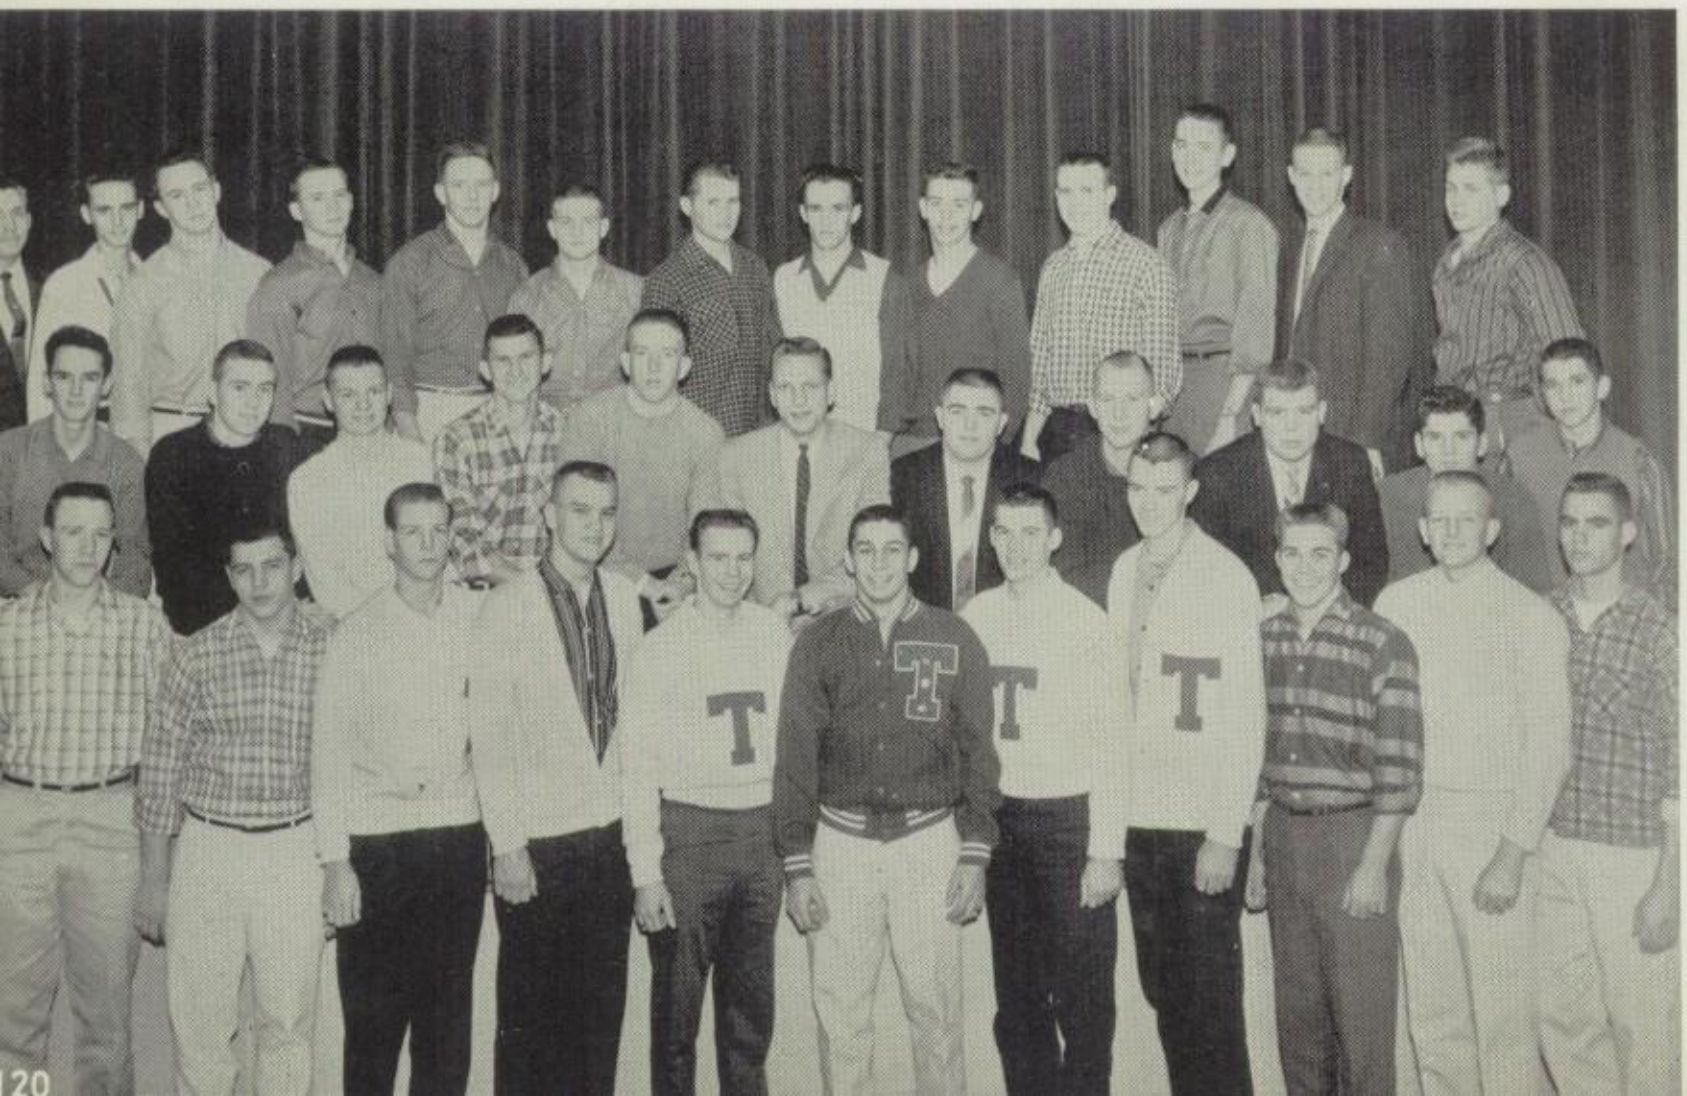
The infant organization got off to a good start with a series of interesting programs. This group originated under the leadership of Mrs. Annie Ellis.

FIRST ROW: P. Lovall, J. Jones, A. Voss, G. Lenahan, A. Hudson, A. Gordon, P. Byrd, S. Foley. SECOND ROW: D. Davis, B. Strickland, E. Burton, P. Haynes, M. Dorris, M. Todd.

"T" CLUB

Teamwork, school loyalty, sacrifice of time, together with hard work were required to earn a "T" in one of Treadwell's senior high sports.

This organization presented an opportunity for outstanding athletes in various fields to meet each other socially and enjoy fellowship.



FIRST ROW: P. Exley, D. Howard, R. Haynes, D. Janss, J. King, B. McAfee, A. C. Williams, A. Smith, F. Perry, C. Halford, M. Hamrick. SECOND ROW: L. Houston, B. McNeal, J. Neal, B. Strickland, J. Coy, E. Ware, J. Sullivan, J. Fairly, W. Rushton, G. Miller, M. McAfee. THIRD ROW: Coach Hardke, Sponsor, R. Wiseman, R. Durby, K. Miller, T. Myrick, R. Martin, R. Snipes, J. Ray, D. Burge, B. Patterson, D. Rye, R. McGoff, R. Baker.

Treadwell graduates always remember the home of their senior year with a certain fondness that holds a very special spot in their memories. This sentiment is twelvefold for those who have spent their entire school life at Treadwell.

On a particularly important day, September 2, 1947, several hundred six-year-olds crossed Treadwell's threshold for the first time to enter a new, fascinating world with curiosity, eagerness, and a little fear.

As the years progressed, many experiences were encountered and memories stored away for future reference: the first report card, friendly snowball fights, a favorite teacher, success with real writing, an Easter egg hunt, and the first sentimental valentine.

Moving from the quiet halls of the elementary building to the bustling activity of junior high was considered quite an achievement. The freckled-faced girl with pigtails seemed quite different as a sophisticated seventh grader. Sports and social activities became a vital area of school life.

The four unforgettable years in senior high were filled with development in all phases of personality. Higher academic levels carried with them higher levels of character and responsibility.

Truly these years at Treadwell have been wonderful. But, even though graduation brings a separation from the familiar surroundings, friends, and security, a Treadwell graduate can leave with the assurance of a promising future based on the well-rounded foundation he has acquired and the cherished memories of twelve glorious years.

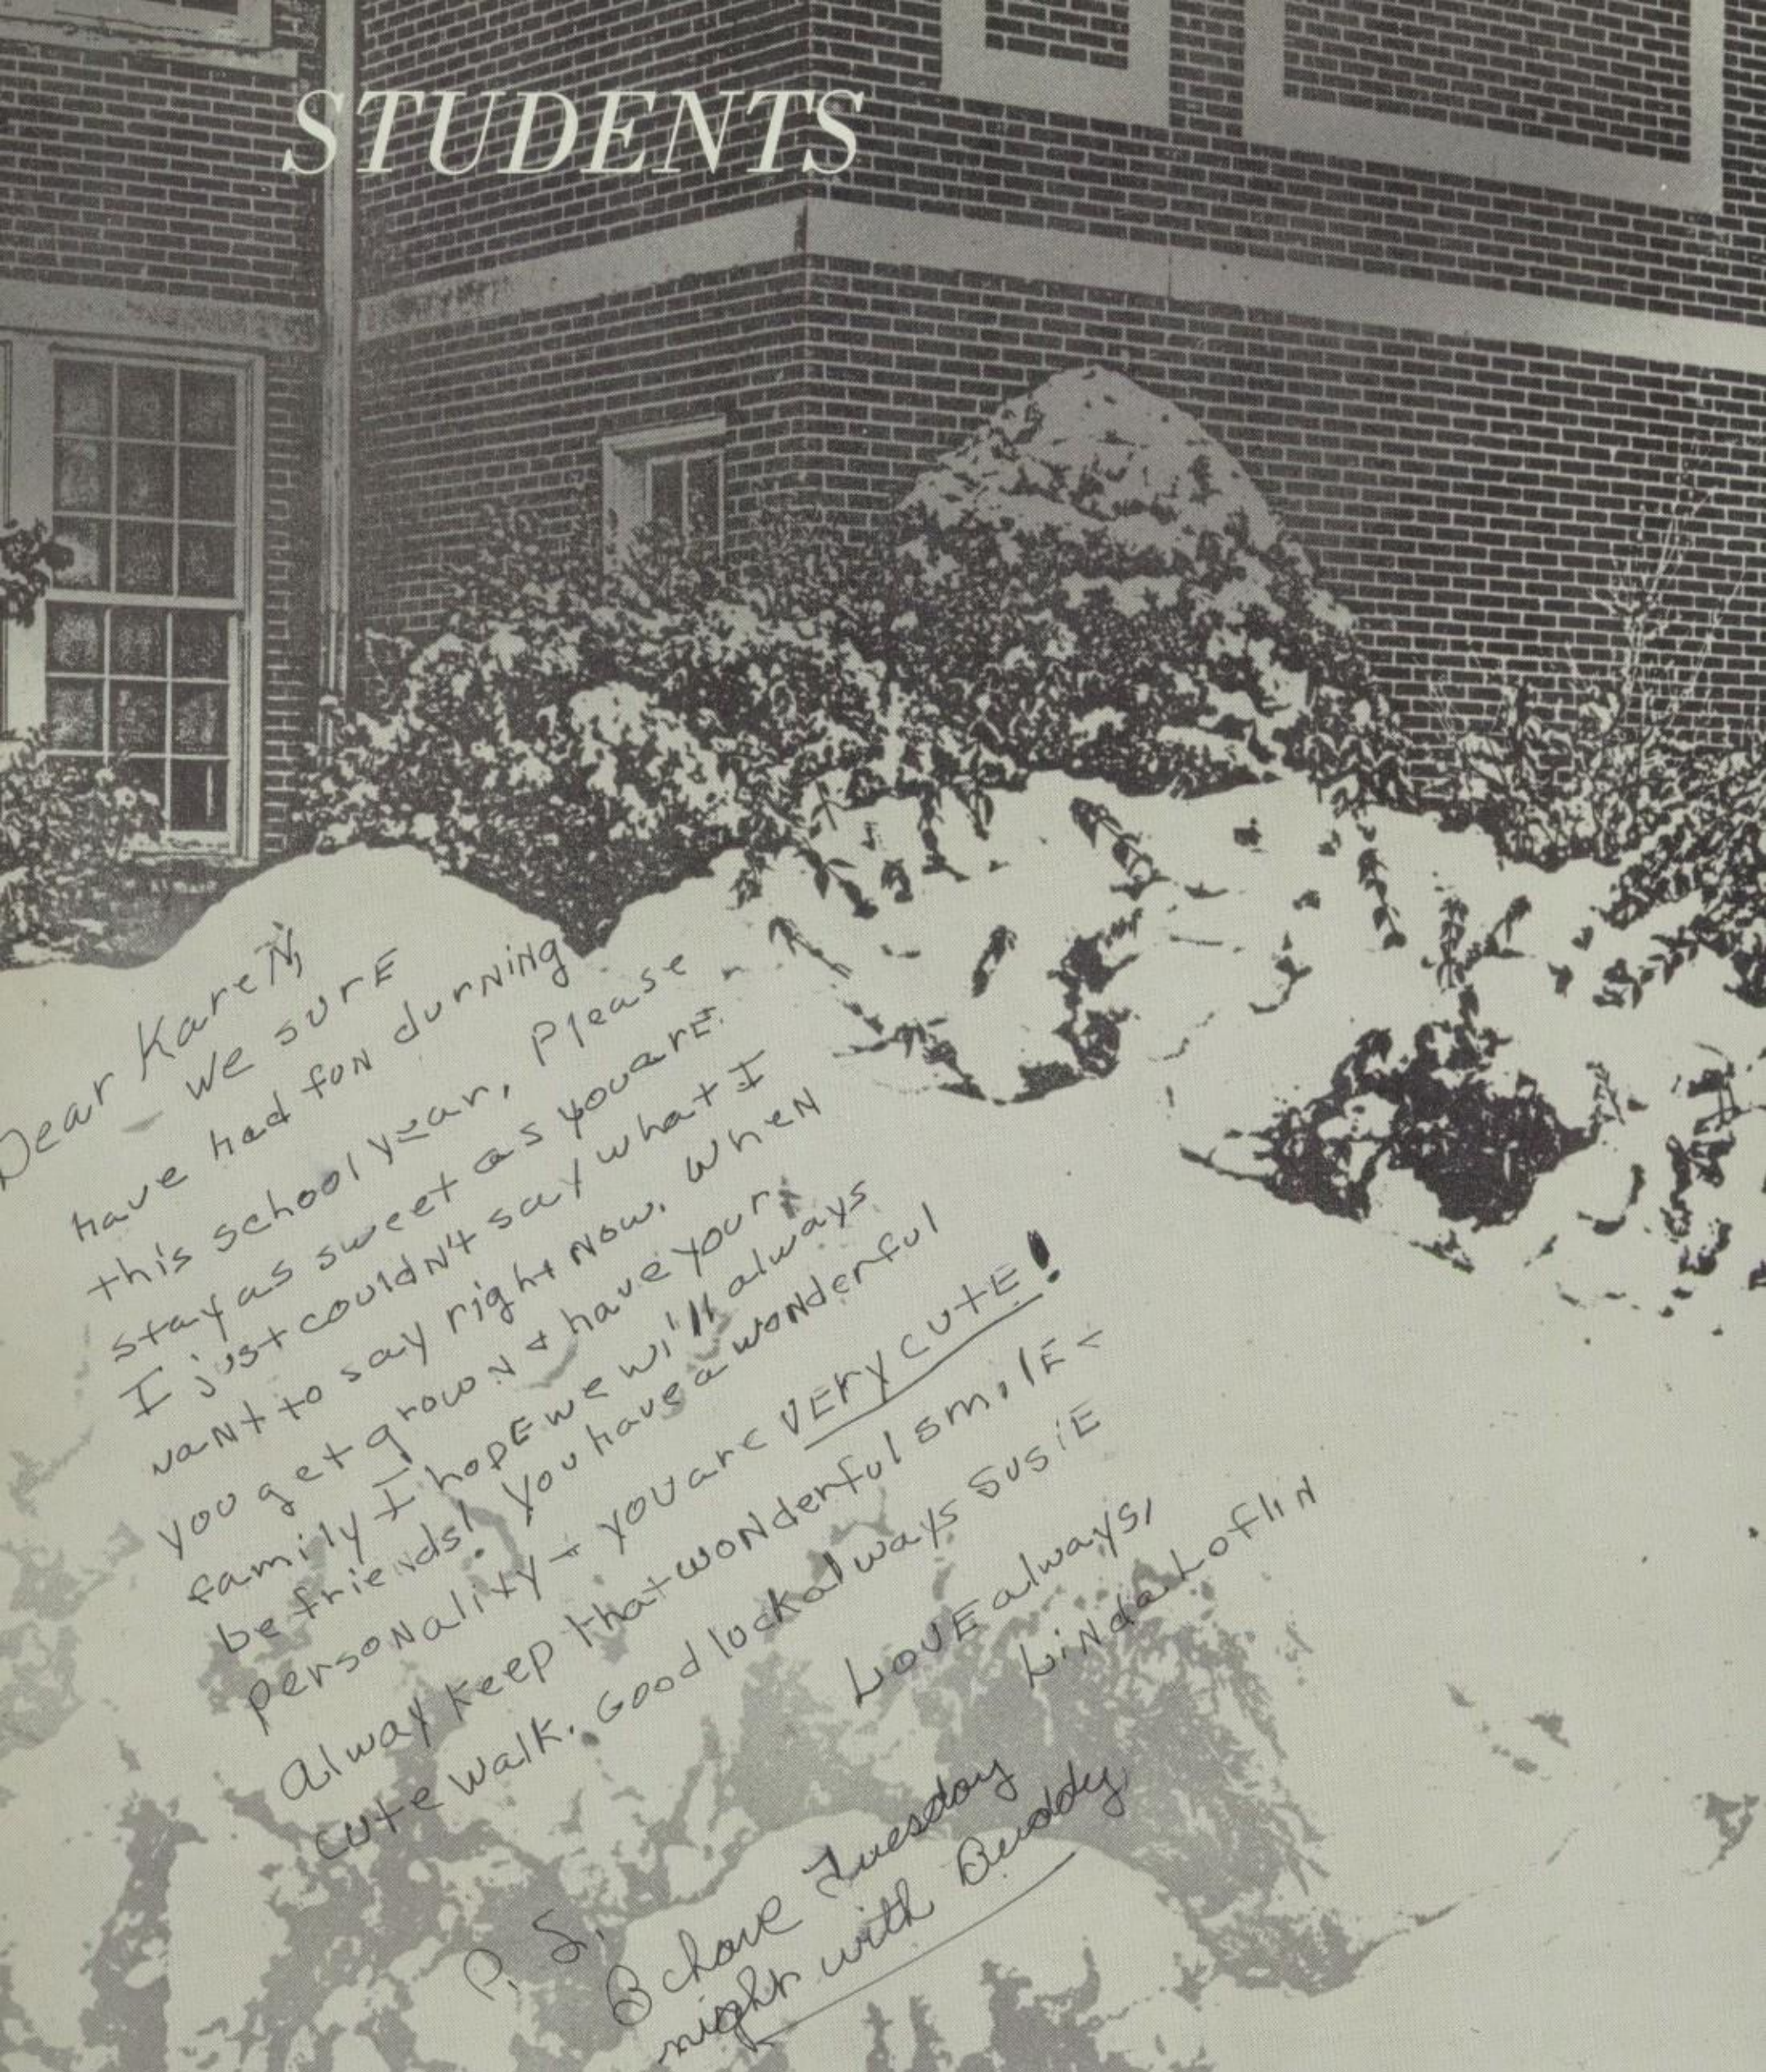
STUDENTS



Dear Karen,
We sure have had fun durning this school year. Please stay as sweet as you are. I just couldn't say what I want to say right now. When you get grown & have your family I hope we will always be friends! You have a wonderful personality + you are VERY CUTE! Always keep that wonderful smile + cute walk. Good luck always Susie
Love always!

Freshman, Sophomore, Junior, Senior—each has played his part in continuing the traditions of Treadwell High School. As pages make a book, so do students make a school. Any acclaim or honor that Treadwell wins is a result of the combined efforts of the individual students. The student body as a whole reflects the high standards and ideals manifested at our school.

With Mr. and Miss Treadwell let us now meet those students who made possible this book—for they were the ones who filled the year with rich and memorable experiences.

TREADWELL IN THE SNOW

THE SENIOR CLASS

NINETEEN HUNDRED FIFTY-NINE

September of 1958 opened the fresh pages of a new book, destined to be filled with fond memories as the seniors plunged enthusiastically into the long-awaited year.

No dream is more cherished, perhaps, than that of being a senior. In May of the junior year the dream began to materialize upon the arrival of the senior rings. Registration day opened the book to a new and thrilling year. Mr. Maybry brought us down to earth by reminding us of the quality of work expected from seniors, the importance of leaving behind a good record, and the vitalness of dependability and punctuality. With the first day of classes a new chapter had begun. Talking to friends, hurrying to classes, passing tests, and rushing to the lunchroom will always hold a treasured spot in our book of memories.

Sports have an exciting chapter in our lives. Colorful memories of basketball and football games, noisy pep meetings, and the glamor of the football banquet will long persist in the minds of Treadwell graduates. This year our basketball team had an outstanding record, which exemplified our enthusiasm and appreciation for sports.

May brought us the 1959 Annual with its permanent record of our achievements and activities. Our joy knew no bounds!

As our book draws to a close, a happily remembered chapter is filled with excitement and gaiety of the traditional Junior-Senior Prom. For many, the Prom with its color, soft music, and swish of dresses will be considered a high spot in their senior days.

With the closing of the last chapter, the strains of Treadwell's Alma Mater swell out as the seniors receive their diplomas. As the final page of our book is gently closed, the seniors with glistening tears walk out to meet life with the training and experiences received at Treadwell.

SENIOR HONORS

Each year Treadwell seniors acquire numerous honors which bring credit to themselves as well as to our school. The class of 1959 was an outstanding example of this tradition. Even though all the awards were not known at the time this volume went to press, we did compile the honors which were announced.

These seniors, making all A's since the ninth grade, qualified to compete for various scholarships: Judy Forrester, P.T.A.; June Bryan, Sears; Glenna Boales, Cotton Carnival; Norma Slover, Josephine Circle; Judy Wilkes, Elks Foundation; Emily Hatcher, P.T.A.; Ronnie Swain, Elks Foundation.

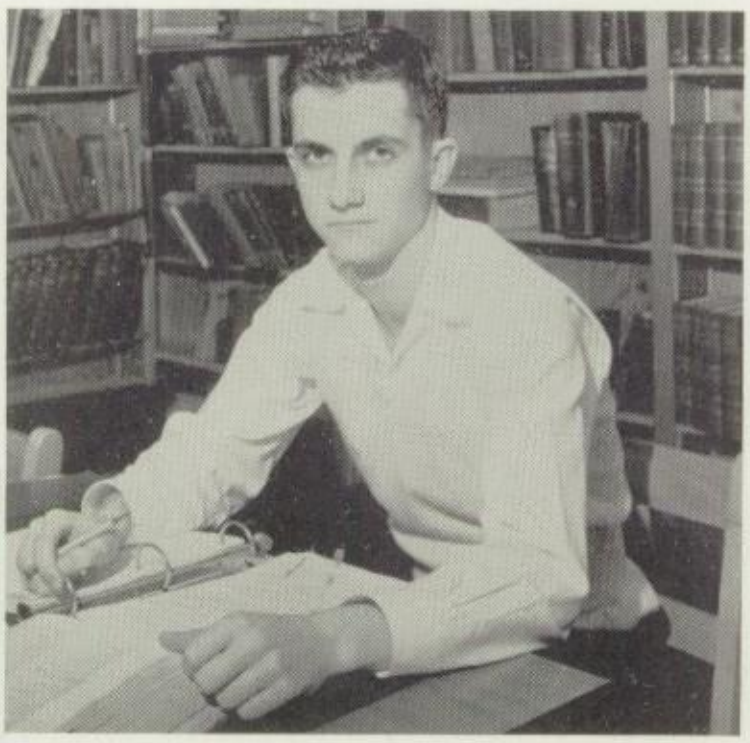
Jimmy Mayo, one of Treadwell's favorite scientists, was a finalist in the Westinghouse Science Talent Search, and was in the upper 10% of the nation.

Nancy Hannings prepares to begin another busy day at Treadwell. She was a finalist in the General Motors, the National Honor Society, and the Merit Scholarships, and was featured as Teenager of the Week in the Memphis Press-Scimitar. The National Council of English Teachers selected her as one of the top English students in Tennessee.

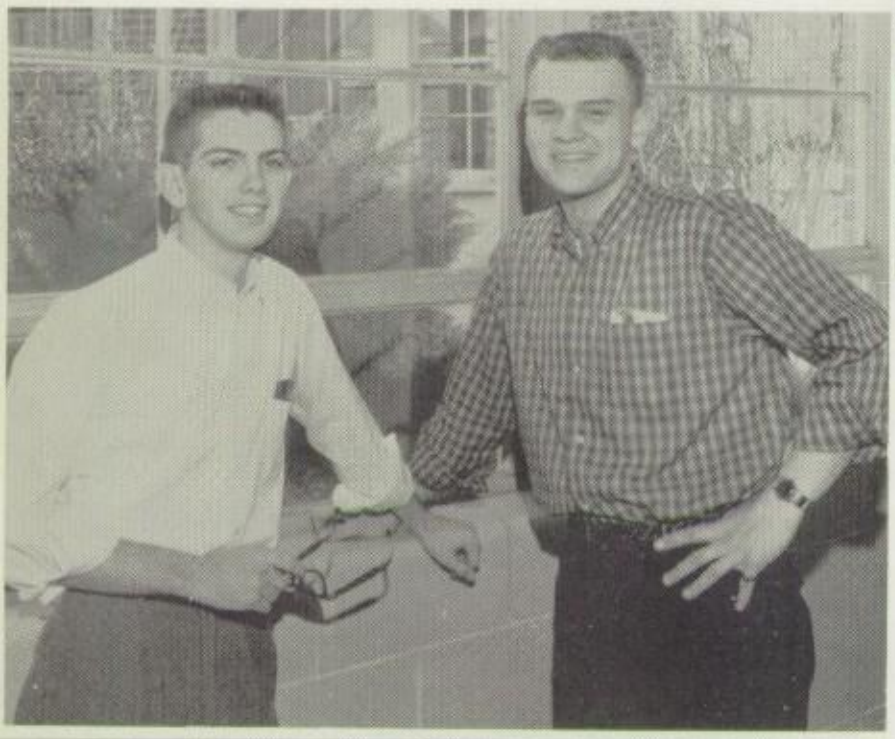
Students making outstanding scores on the Merit Scholarship were Larry Cockrum, Larry Walker, Jimmy Mayo, and Gayle Parker. Nancy Hannings, Jeff Morris, and Bert Williams qualified as semi-finalists.

Alice McNeely, Memphis Sub-District FHA President, prepares the program for a future Sub-District meeting.

Bozo Ware and Wayne Rushton admire some of the trophies that the Treadwell Eagles have won in years past. These two boys made the Press-Scimitar second string in All-Memphis Football.



Joe Morton, an outstanding student, works on his winning essay, "Traffic Safety for Teenage Drivers," that won first prize in city competition.



Left: Tommy Scott and Douglas Janss were two students chosen to represent Treadwell on "Youth Hunts Headlines."

Seniors who were chosen for the All-Memphis band were Charles Emerick, Larry Davis, and Larry Walker.

June Bryan, winner of the "Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow Award" was caught reviewing the fundamentals of etiquette.

Buddy McAfee and John Coy, two outstanding Treadwell boys, may make their future out of the Armed Forces. Buddy is an alternate for an appointment to Annapolis, and John won a nomination for an appointment to the Air Force Academy.

Janice McCammon, Gretta Guyton, Alice McNeeley, Patricia Nichols have worked hard all year to attain their FHA Degrees, which involves projects concerning leadership, decision making, and management.

1958 SCHOLARSHIPS

THE JUNIOR CLASS

NINETEEN HUNDRED FIFTY-NINE

Junior!—That title signifies the last important step toward the senior year. The responsibilities and situations encountered as a junior contribute a great deal to the development of character and personality. A junior's future life was immeasurably affected, not only by more advanced academic explorations, but also by acquaintance with new, interesting friends.

Registration for the third year in high school required a definite decision concerning major and minor courses. That decision was made after much thoughtful consideration which perhaps determined a life-long occupation.

Election of Junior Class officers was one of the highlights of the first semester. Each member of the class was faced with a personal responsibility to help select leaders who would represent Treadwell as well as their class in an efficient, capable manner.

Being measured for a senior class ring was a special thrill for every junior. When the rings arrived in May, the long-awaited dream of becoming a senior was realized.

There was much excitement as time drew near to elect next year's officers for the Student Advisory Board. The nominations, campaigns, and election were all important training for participation later in public affairs.

The Junior Class, under the leadership of its officers, was responsible for arranging the Junior-Senior Prom. Much time and effort was spent to make that occasion the most memorable social event of the year.

The junior year was busy, exciting and sometimes difficult, but almost always happy.

Junior Year Filled With Excitement

Right: These Juniors, Linda Stanley, Carl Brown, Sandra Mansfield, Bill Jones, Gloria Griffin, Bob Jordan, and Tommy Geiger, discuss the wonderful time they were having at the Valentine Dance.

Tommy Geiger, Charlotte McNeill, Fred Drake, and Gloria Hammett exercise their junior privilege to vote for Mr. and Miss Treadwell.

THE SOPHOMORE CLASS

NINETEEN HUNDRED FIFTY-NINE

Now a full-fledged high school student, the sophomore arrived at the point which awarded him all of the privileges of high school: pep meetings, assemblies, senior lunch hour, and senior social activities; but this same point required the meeting of the responsibilities of high school: choice of major and minor subjects, participation in clubs, and problems of student government.

The earnest sophomore realized more completely the importance of a firm high school foundation for his future plans and scheduled his courses accordingly. By this time he began to consider a lifetime vocation.

Sophomore homerooms were represented on the Student Advisory Board and, with the freshman and junior homerooms, participated in the spring election of Student Advisory Board officers.

Senior high dances, sports, and various club activities played a large part in the lives of most of the students in their sophomore year. Many benefits through congenial recreation, entertainment, leadership training, and character-building were derived from such extracurricular activities.

With the close of this year, the half-way mark in the high school career was passed; but half of the fun and the making of new friends is yet to come.

Sophomores Caught in the Whirl of School Activities

Phyliss Dew, Dennis Goggin, Jerrie Richards, Mike Kelly, Carol Kinser, and Susan Stephens talk with Dr. Cletus Oakley of Haverford College about a future in mathematics.

Charles Steele, Bill Jones, Craig Leake, Kay Schuele, Tommy Geiger, and Linda Laney rehearse the Christmas play.

Students show their spirit and enthusiasm for their eam at one of the many pep meetings of the year.

THE FRESHMAN CLASS

OF

NINETEEN HUNDRED FIFTY-NINE

Finally a Freshman! At last the first important milestone of the high school year was reached.

Registration, the first highlight of the year, presented the freshman with his first opportunity to choose classes and arrange his own schedules. The all important high school academic record that will follow the student through years to come began this year.

The eager freshman was soon caught up in the exciting whirl of high school activities. School spirit and loyalty reigned higher this year than ever before, as the ninth grade student scurried to keep up with both junior and senior high sports. Membership to clubs of varied interests were opened to the freshman. Junior Honor Society membership stood out as the high goal and honor that was bestowed on a deserving select few. Through the Junior Student Advisory Board ninth graders were faced with the responsibility, as well as the privilege, of self-government.

The year was climaxed with promotional exercises. By this time the freshman had truly earned his own special niche in the busy academic and social life of Treadwell High School.

Freshman Year Sprinkled With Activities

Reverend Robert P. Richardson, Jr., speaks to the Junior High students in one of the many assemblies.

Junior High Football Queen Linda Dlugach smiles prettily after being crowned by Ricky Coleman as the alternate Football Queen Camille McKenzi and her escort Larry Scott watch.

Through snow, sleet, rain, or shine the Safety Patrol faithfully serves to protect the students of Treadwell. These boys are usually the first to arrive at school and the last to leave.

However, it is not all work and no play for this industrious group. They were entertained by a Christmas party at the home of their sponsor, Mrs. Hutchens. They will never forget that steaming cup of hot chocolate that they received every morning during the cold winter months. The climax of the year was a picnic given at the Optimist Camp.

GRADUATION

The End–The Beginning

As graduation time drew near, Miss Johnson helped Larry Joe Davis, Senior Class president, rehearse his commencement speech while members of the senior class listened attentively.

Commencement brought a flood of memories—each separate, each distinct, each treasured! The joy of achievement was foremost in the minds of Treadwell graduates, but the joy was somewhat diminished with the thought of leaving our second home and making our way in the world. Perhaps the sentiment of each senior was best expressed by Larry Joe Davis, president of the Senior Class, in his commencement address:

". . . Four years ago when we entered high school, this graduation ceremony was only a distant goal—an end toward which to strive. We were as pioneers going to a new land, facing obstacles and difficulties. Just as the early settlers were joyous upon their arrival at their long-awaited destination, so are we joyous as we have reached our destination, commencement exercises. Tonight we realize we also face new and challenging frontiers. As the early Americans left their friends and familiar surroundings to launch out toward new frontiers, we tonight leave the friends and familiar surroundings of high school to launch into our future lives . . . "

Music, laughter, and dancing—these are the memories of the Junior-Senior Prom relived at graduation time.

These happy seniors typify the 1958-59 graduating class. Before the exercises began, Wayne Rushton, June Bryan, and Emily Hatcher joined Judy Forrester and Bert Williams at the foot of the stairs where they waited for the big moment.

Business managers, Carolyn Grant and Ronnie Swain (right), make arrangements for another ad with top salesman, Lynn Fly.

Dear Reader:

We, the Business Staff, have compiled this section of ads to acquaint you with some of the business and professional firms that are interested in Treadwell High School and you. Please give each one your consideration and patronage.

Sincerely,

Business Managers

In Appreciation

In closing I wish to express my sincere appreciation to the many people who have made the 1959 Eagle a reality.

I am especially grateful to the yearbook staff, who toiled diligently many an afternoon and night to meet the deadlines; Mr. Maybry, his administrative staff, and the entire faculty for fervent interest and cooperation; Mrs. Margaret Buffaloe, who advised the business staff; Miss Elisebeth Phillips for correcting the continuous stream of copy; Mr. William S. Carrier for his exceptional job on the photography and his helpful advice and criticism; and Miss Margaret Tisdale, our sponsor, for her guidance, assistance, and never ending patience without which we could never have made the dream of our yearbook come true.

It is through the combined efforts of these people that I can now present to you your 1959 annual.

Dear Karen,

You're a precious, sweet girl with a really great personality!! We've had barrels of fun with you this year. Our friendship has really grown since that day you and your mother walked in our front door in October. I sincerely hope it will continue to grow. I hope you have as much fun next year as I have had (10th grade); you really deserve it. I wish you all the luck and happiness you deserve in the future. I will never forget you and your wonderful family! May God bless you and guide you always.

Love always,
Carol
